Legend Staff Uses Newspaper Theme in 1933 Yearbook

Many Persons Give

Assistance to Staff

The Legend staff wishes to take this opportunity to thank several of our friends to whom we are greatly indebted. First we wish to thank Mr. Tenny, sports editor of the News-Sentinel, for the picture of the team looking down on Butler Field House on Page 44.

Then we are also very grateful to Mr. Reed of the Journal-Gazette for the picture of Bob Irons on page 48. Next we wish to thank Mr. David Parrish for the many pictures which he has taken of school activities on pages 7-13.

The home room teachers are also to be commended for the fine way in which they handled the home room picture money for the Legend.

Last of all, but not least, we wish to thank Mr. Neuman for the splendid airplane view of our school on page 4. Again we express our appreciation to these persons for the splendid co-operation which they have given us.

Flash!

Dorothy Goebel is announced as the winner of the Legend subscription contest. Dorothy obtained a total of 127 subscriptions. For her efforts in behalf of the yearbook, she will receive a free copy of the Legend.

Work Goes Into Book

Work on the Legend is usually extended over the two semesters, but it is always nice to have a real snappy ending. This year the staff got a real workout in the last two weeks before the book went to press. Supernatural powers were called on to write stories, identify pictures, find lost write-ups, etc.

Some of the pictures used in the Legend were also used in the extracurricular activity exhibit. At the last minute several of these pictures had to be found. Because of this fact, "Our Editor" organized the "findem committee" to serve in the capacity of picture finders. Work, rest, work, rest, lots and lots of work, the book to press, and then rest.

Editors Break From Standard Layouts

The theme of this year's Legend is, of course, "The Newspaper." We have tried, as much as is possible under the circumstances, to carry this theme through the entire book. The book proper has been divided into sections, each of which may be compared to the sections in a real newspaper. In fact, we have even gone so far as to include a rotogravure section. This section shows scenes of the school taken from an airplane, the bridge, and from nearby streets. We have divisions reserved for sports, humor, and society. In following out the theme we have made it a three-column affair with headlines, banner heads, and the like.

'33 Legend Furnishes

Record of School

To make a neat, beautiful year book, it is necessary to have pictures and cuts, representative of the school life, attractive and interesting. The Legend is the only condensed, complete record that the school can offer as a memory to the students. That is why we strive to make it the best we can.

Publishing a book of this kind is not to gain financial profit. The cost is great. The expenses of publishing a Legend are never sufficiently covered by subscriptions alone. The price is set so that all students may buy a copy.

It is only fair therefore that the clubs represented in this book co-operate and pay a small part of the cost of engraving of pictures. What the organizations pay is only a small part.

We, therefore, feel that our efforts in publishing this book are successful, not if we merely avoid a deficit, but if the readers, teachers, and students remember the golden days enclosed herein.

Legend Staff Is Made Up of Hard Workers

After many months of hard work on the part of the Legend staff members, the product is before your eyes. This is the fifth annual published by the senior classes.

The staff which has worked so efficiently under the direction of Don Brudi, editor, follows:

Business Mgr.—Margaret Bolman.
Assistant Manager—Tressa Sefton.
Circulation Manager—H e r m a n Elett.

Social Calendar

A series of after-game dances and tea dances has formed the main social diversion of the students of North Side the past year.

The season was opened with a tea dance given by the Northerner and Legend staffs on September 15. The second of these was given on October 14 by the Junior Red Cross group.

The junior class next entertained with a Halloween dance on October 28, and the Girl Scouts followed with a dance after the Columbia City game on November 4. Two weeks later the Art Club sponsored a "bargain" dance in the cafeteria.

On December 2, the Home Economics Club gave a tea dance after school. A week following this, the Girl Reserves gave a dance after the Central-North Side tilt.

One of the peppiest affairs of the year was the dance sponsored by the G. A. A. after the North Side-South Side game.

On February 5, the second tea dance sponsored by the publications was held. The Hi-Y group was the next North Side organization to give an after-game dance, which was held on February 24.

On March 24, the Junior Red Cross sponsored their second tea dance, and the senior class was the sponsor of the one given March 31.

The Booster Club honored the lettermen of the school with a dance on April 21. The sophomore class was the next group to give a tea dance, which was held April 28.

Next on the program was the annual Junior Prom. This yearly affair by the third year class was held on May 5 in the cafeteria and was a great success.

The Red Cross group and the Northerner staff combined to give a tea dance June 1, and the final event was the annual Commencement dance held June 13.

The rotogravure section of the Legend shown on page 5, was run in the News-Sentinel to illustrate the different activities in North Side. The News-Sentinel, on the petition of the Legend, took these pictures so that they might be put in the Legend as an opening page to the views section.

Mr. Northrop Head Of School 6 Years

Mr. Milton Northrop, principal of North Side High School, was graduated from Reading High School, Reading, Michigan. He attended Albion College and later was graduated from the University of Michigan where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree. He has taken some graduate work at Indiana University and at the University of Chicago.

He started teaching at the Al-

The Big Chief

M. H. Northrop, Principal

bion School College of Business, and he also taught at Kendallville High School, Kendallville, Indiana. Mr. Northrop was a commercial instructor at Central High School here in Fort Wayne for eleven years and also served as athletic manager there.

He was appointed as the first principal of North Side High School in 1927, a position he has filled well for six years.

Beauty of School Greatly Increased

Do you remember North Side in the fall of 1927? The front of the school grounds was bordered with a temporary board walk. As for the boulevard, it was merely a mud road full of ruts, which sometimes disliked to give up the cars which tried their luck on the mud in bad weather. The banks of the river, on each side, were overrun with runty trees and weeds, which detracted from the beauty of the building. And the beautiful shrubbery around the building was sadly missing.

Let us see the improvements of later years. The first improvements were directly around the school. A beautiful boulevard and sidewalk were constructed at the same time. Shrubbbery was added by the graduating classes, which planted bushes or ivy each year.

The bank opposite the school has been well cared for by the Park Board. The banks along the river have been boulevarded from Three Rivers Park.

Parents Have Fun On School Night

Open-House Night is one of the largest events of the year for the North Side Parent-Teachers' Association. On this night the parents of the students go through the daily routine of the school day. They begin by going to the home room of their children, and then attend all their classes. Usually about a thousand parents attend Back-To-School Night, and they all seem to enjoy the evening. This event has been observed for four years and has always been a success. The night picture of the school was made possible by Back-To-School Night, as the lights gleaming upon the Saint Joe River made a beautiful picture.

Two Years Produce North Side Building

The year 1925 marked the beginning of the work on the new North Side High School. The construction intended it to be the best and finest equipped high school in Northern Indiana, and it has become just that. The building, when it was opened in 1927, was seen to have five wings branching from the main section. The main section which nestles under the shadow of "The Big Dome" contains the auditorium. Two wings have class rooms; one is the large gym; another has the cafeteria and the girls' gym; and the fifth wing has the swimming pool, study hall, and library.

Victoria Gross, Dean

Miss Victoria Gross Fort Wayne Product

Miss Victoria Gross, dean of girls at North Side High School, has lived in Fort Wayne all of her life. She attended the St. Paul Lutheran and the old Clay School.

After she was graduated from Central High School, Miss Gross attended Indiana University where she received her Bachelor of Arts degree and where she also was elected to Phi Beta Kappa national honorary scholastic fraternity.

Later she attended the University of Michigan where she received her Master of Arts degree. She studied French at Western Reserve, Cleveland, Ohio, and Spanish at the University of Chicago. She is interested in the teaching of foreign languages, such as French, Spanish, and German. She taught at Central High School before North Side opened. Miss Gross also teaches Spanish at Indiana Extension here in Fort Wayne.

She came to North Side the fall of 1927. Miss Gross was made dean the fall of 1930.

School Enrollment Doubled Since '27

North Side High School has increased greatly in enrollments since its opening in the year 1927. The opening semester North Side had 600 students enrolled, but the second semester the number increased to 778 students. In June, 1928, 64 of this number were graduated.

The second year, 1928, the number of students increased to 842, and in January, 1929, the enrollment was 895, but 95 students were lost in June through graduation.

Next year, which was 1929, showed a more steady increase, for there were 950 students attending. In January, 1930, the number came up to 963. The graduation lists had been steadily increasing, also, for in June, 1930, 120 students received diplomas.

Enrollment for the fourth year showed very little increase, with 998 students on the records, but in January, 1931, the enrollment topped the 1,000 mark with 1,025. This year the graduates totaled 157.

North Side increased to 1,130 students the fifth year. January, 1932, the list showed 1,172 students here. The graduates of that year comprised the largest group to be graduated so far. There were 188 seniors.

Last September, 1932, there were 1,240 students in attendance, and in January, 1,294 students marked the increasing enrollment. This June there are 199 seniors to be graduated, making the largest class so far in the history of North Side.

Taken by Neuman

This year, all of the Legend's photography was done by Erwin's Studio, except those few pictures which the Journal-Gazette and News-Sentinel loaned us.

Saint Joseph River Had Part in History

North Side has a most ideal situation on the banks of the beautiful and historical Saint Joseph River. In the early history of Indiana the present site of North Side was an Indian village. The Saint Joe played an important part in the settlement of this district. Along the banks of the Saint Joe are the sites of many battles between the Indian and white man. Here many a white chief has fallen before his red foe. It was not until the coming of General Anthony Wayne that Fort Wayne was permanently settled. We at North Side should be proud of such a splendid site and should do our share in making it more historical.

Those same banks today witness things vastly different from those of yesteryear. Nearly every noon one will find students going to those banks with the expectation of studying but upon arrival soon forsaking their books for the beauty and fascination of that historical St. Joe.

Margaret Brudi Is North Side Graduate

Miss Margaret Brudi, secretary to Mr. Northrop, was graduated from North Side High School in January, 1930. She helped Mr. Eyster from January to June and in July assumed her office position here. She received the Business and Professional Woman's Club scholarship and went to Indiana Extension here in Fort Wayne.

Margaret Brudi, Secretary

Care of Building Is Big Undertaking

Taking care of such a huge building as North Side takes more into consideration than one would imagine. The building and the athletic field cover about three and one-half blocks. The crew of janitors work in two shifts, day and night. Among their duties are the caretaking of the field, yard, gymnasium, and classrooms, washing the corridor walls, washing about one thousand windows, and taking care of the heating system.

There are six janitors: Frank Fortmeyer, C. Robinette, R. Fernwald, O. Fortmeyer, K. Seemeyer, and F. Witzgrauter; two janitoresses: Mable Hamilton and Hilda Rose; two firemen: R. E. Croy and H. Schookman; and one engineer, E. Wheeler.

In heating the building the firemen must use twelve to thirteen tons of coal a day in cold weather. All this coal must be carried from the coal bin to the furnace by the firemen.

School Loses Few Of Its Teachers

Thirty-one of the thirty-nine faculty members who taught at North Side in 1927 are still teaching in the Wigwam. Milton Northrop, first principal, still heads the staff, but instead of Florence Reynard as his chief assistant, he is now aided by Victoria Gross. Mrs. Ella B. Clark is still employed to take care of the attendance records.

Teachers employed in the English department in 1927 and who are instructing Redskins at the present time include Mary Cromer, Charles Dickinson, Mabel Greenwalt, Mildred Huffman, Julia Storr, and Edith Winslow.

Those teaching science were Julia Alexander, Rolla Chambers, Clifford Risk, and Edgar Suter. Commerce instructors were Elvin Eyster and Oral Furst; Hilda Schwehn, Hyrle Ivy, and Mark Bills were physical education directors; and Bernice Sinclair and Gertrude Zook were art teachers.

Foreign language instructors were Hilda Auman, Gertrude Beierlein, Victoria Gross, and Bertha Nelson. Laurinda DeVilbiss, Agnes Pate, and Martha Beierlein taught the girls how to become expert home makers, while Tourist Thompson, Eldon Schellschmidt, and Allan Cleaver showed the boys how to make themselves handy-men around the house.

Those employed as history and social science teachers were John DeLong, Merton Kimes, and Rollo Mosher. Mathematics instructors included Marie Miller, Everett Pennington, and Venette Sites.

Three Courses Open To Students Here

Three courses of study are open to North Side students. These are the College Preparatory, the Commercial, and the General.

The College Preparatory course is designed primarily to prepare pupils to enter college. Graduates of this course who make an average of B or better will be admitted to any college or university

Front row: Miss Auman, Miss Foster, Miss Zook, Miss Greenwalt, Miss Bowen, Miss Cromer.

Second row: Miss Huffman, Mrs. Clark, Miss Howard, Mrs. Winslow.

Third row: Miss Rothenberger, Miss Nelson, Miss Shroyer, Miss Storr.

Back row: Miss Miller, Miss Alexander.

in the country, except a few which yet demand the passing of an entrance examination.

The Commercial course is intended to give those who take it a sound general education together with specific preparation for secretarial and general office work.

The General Course is designed for those pupils who do not intend to go to college and who do not want to prepare during their high school career for any specific vocation.

The majority of students of North Side pursue the College Preparatory work.

One of Our Faculty Taught in England

Here at North Side we have a teacher who has had the experience of teaching in a foreign country. That teacher is Miss Katherine Rothenberger, a civics instructor, who during the year of 1931-1932 taught at the Burnley Secondary School for Girls, Burnley, England.

It was through the English Speaking Union of the Student Exchange that Miss Rothenberger received an appointment to the Burnley School, exchanging positions with Miss Doris Chew, who wished to come to the United States. Miss Chew taught history and social science in England.

Cupid's Arrow Has Found Victims Here

Have you ever stopped to think of the many different men and women who have been struck by the arrows of Dan Cupid while they were busy teaching students at North Side? Let us look back and see—

Miss Florence Reynard, the kind and friendly dean of girls, in 1928 forsook the portals of North Side for the name "Teagarden" and a home in Indianapolis; and that same year Glenn Smith, Mr. Northrop's efficient secretary, Elizabeth Hadley, girls' gym instructor, and Florence Van Fleit, English teacher, fell victim to the little fellow with bow and arrow.

Two other teachers who married and left North Side are Dorothy Coppock, physical education instructor for girls, and Ted Miller, instructor of mathematics.

Elvin Eyster, Hyrle Ivy, John Robert Sinks, Merton Kimes, Rolla Chambers, and John Mertes have also been married since beginning to teach in the Redskin camp but have braved the gibes of their fellow-workers and remained to impart learning.

At the present time Mr. Cleaver, our mechanical drawing instructor, is the only faculty member who has children at North Side.

Few Teachers Quit Positions at School

During the six years of its existence, North Side has had an unusually large percent of the same instructors occupying the desks in the many classrooms.

Seven teachers who were among the first to be employed in the newest of Fort Wayne's high schools have left and one instructor, Clifford B. Risk, who was employed in the science department, was killed in an automobile accident. Those who have changed their place of employment are Glenn Hewitt, Mercedes Hurst, Florence Lucasse, Paul Mathews, W. K. Pring, Florence Reynard, and Gertrude Beierlein.

Twenty-three teachers have been added to the original staff, and of this number, fifteen are still to be found at North Side. Gretchen Smith, physical education; Doris Chew, English; Florine Michaud, Latin and French; Paul Sidell, mathematics; Dorothy Coppock, physical education; Gerald Doty, music; Ted Miller, mathematics; and Florence Van Fleit, English, are those who have left.

Instructors remaining at North Side since having been added to the staff, and the subject which they teach, are Loraine Foster and Judith Bowen, Latin; Rowena Harvey, English and journalism; Mary Howard, English; Maryann Roller and John Mertes, commerce; Hazel Plummer, English and history; Vesta Thompson, botany; Katherine Rothenberger, citizenship; Fred Breeze, physical and commercial geography; Glenn Gordy, mathematics; J. Robert Sinks, history; John Stoner, public speaking and English; William Sur, music, and Marian Bash, social science.

North Side's teachers have attended colleges and universities which for the most part are specialized in each one's line of work. With this advantage, students who attend North Side receive excellent training in their desired subjects by competent teachers.

Many Teachers Give Added Service

There are no teachers who truly merit tribute more than our own faculty—a faculty which works outside of school as well as in class in an effort to bring to their pupils the right views on social contacts with the outside world.

Mr. Cleaver, Mr. Schellschmidt, Miss Bowen, and Mr. Ivy are the competent advisers of the Rifle Club. Mr. Thompson heads the Airplane Club.

Mr. Mosher and Mr. Pennington have the North Side Hi-Y organization to occupy some of their time. Miss Plummer and Miss Foster are interested in the Polar-Y.

Judith Bowen and Robert Sinks are the senior advisers. Mr. Sinks coaches, too, as does Mr. Chambers.

Mr. Mosher and Miss Katherine Rothenberger are class advisers to the juniors. The sophomore class has as its advisers Miss Schwehn and Mr. Chambers. The freshman advisers are Miss Cromer and Mr. Cleaver.

Miss Bash has interested herself in visual education and is responsible for the frequent motion pictures presented to the students.

Miss Storr and Mr. Cleaver have as their interests the advising of the Lettermen.

Mr. Breeze is the faculty adviser of the recently-formed Geography Council.

Miss Zook and Miss Sinclair supervise the Art Club.

Of course, Mr. Suter and Mr. Chambers are interested in the Phy-Chem Club.

The National Honor Society claims as its sponsors, Miss Sites, and Mr. Dickinson.

Mr. Eyster puts in hours and hours of work as school treasurer.

The Junior Red Cross chapter is advised by Miss Greenwalt and Miss Roller.

Miss Suter is concerned with the S. P. C., while Miss Harvey is the mentor of North Side's publications.

Miss Beierlein, Miss DeVilbiss, and Miss Pate advise the Home Ec Club; and the Garden Club is guided by Miss Miller, Miss Thompson, and Miss Alexander.

Mr. DeLong has served very capably as athletic manager ever since the beginning of North Side High School.

Miss Auman, Miss Furst, and Miss Rothenberger guide the peppy Booster Club.

Mr. Ivy coaches our swimming team. Mr. Stoner has charge of our debaters.

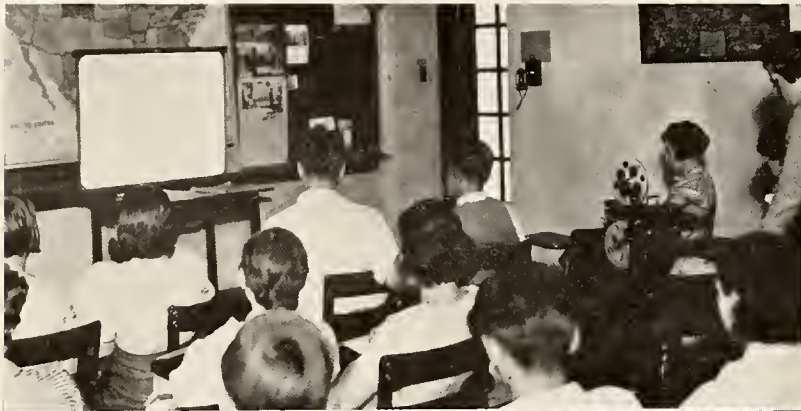

Mr. Pennington helps Mr. Sur with the band.

Front row: Mr. Thompson, Miss Plummer, Miss Sites, Miss Sinclair, Mr. Breeze, Mr. Sur.

Second row: Mr. DeLong, Mr. Sinks, Mr. Pennington, Mr. Cleaver, Mr. Mosher.

Back Row: Mr. Dickinson, Mr. Eyster, Mr. Stoner.

History Room

History has always been in the making and has long been recorded. History is still in the making and is still being recorded. At North Side we have a chance to delve deeper into the recorded facts concerning the history of the world. We also have a chance to study history in the making in our social science classes.

Art Room

Ever since we were very small and able to draw pictures in chalk on the sidewalks, we have responded, some more than others, to the instinct to put everything we see on paper. At North Side that instinct is fostered very earnestly and skillfully. Here we are taught the true appreciation of beauty in nature which most people seem not to understand fully or enjoy or interpret.

Dean's Office

Ever since the world began, man has felt the need of a friend to whom he might go for advice when in trouble, and for confidence when in doubt. We, at North Side, have also felt the need for such a friend and we have found it. Into Miss Gross' willing and sympathetic ears we pour our burdensome troubles, and magically, it seems, they grow smaller and smaller until there are no troubles left.

Music

After reading that the appreciation of the American people for good music is low, we believe the writer did not know whereof he wrote. And our disbelief is caused by considering the large enrollment at North Side in the orchestra, band, glee clubs, and choirs. It is evident that the appreciation of good music is not absent in our illustrious school.

Dramatics Class

An interesting and important art is dramatics, which is not easy but worth work to master. Acting has been done ever since the world began, but now it is more important than ever. It is valuable for entertainment and amusement during leisure hours. Students take dramatics to obtain grace and ease before a large group and to learn appreciation of this fine art.

Room 110

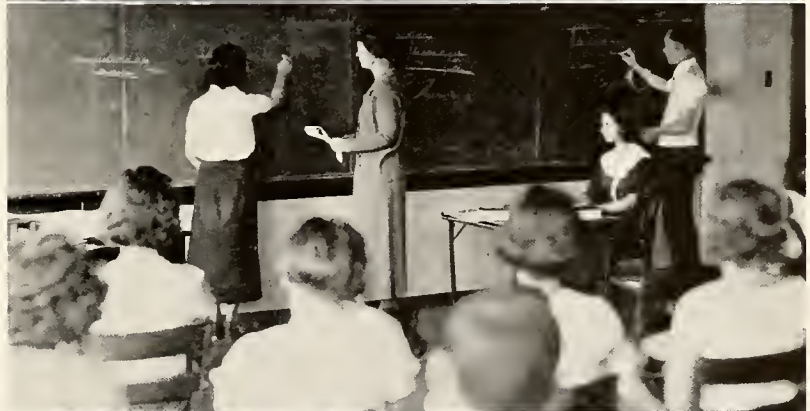

North Side has been honored with awards of a good Northerner, and here are some students trying hard to write up some good articles. The newspaper is a printed record which is issued weekly. Newspapers in a school keep the students informed of happenings, and also acquaints parents with school activities. Students take journalism to learn more about our newspapers.

English Class

English, of course, is the most important subject taught in school. Miss Cromer is the head of the North Side English department. Learning good English is important, because one's speech generally shows about how much education one has. A mastery of English is the sure road to success as all professions are based on it.

Library

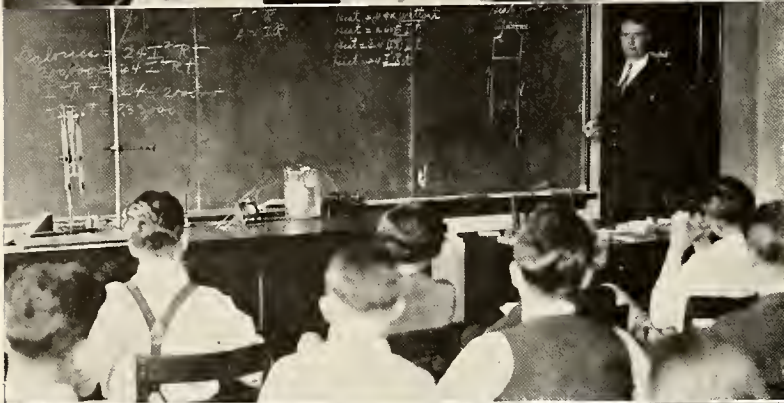

A place of quiet retreat for the North Side students is our library. Libraries existed in ancient Egypt and Assyria, and Pisistratus is credited with the honor of introducing a library at Athens about 337 B. C. So you can see that libraries are very old, but still there are new and exciting things to be found in them.

Study Hall

Of the many rooms at North Side probably one of the best known to all of the pupils is the Study Hall. It is a well-known fact that without study it is hard to learn. It was with this axiom in mind that so much room was given to a study hall in the building of North Side. Here under the watchful eye of Mrs. Clark, students gather during the eight periods a day to study.

Physics Lab.

Ever since the beginning of history man has attempted to explain the physical phenomena about him. This desire to know how and why things happen has developed into the science known as physics. North Side has a most complete and modern laboratory for the demonstrating of the principles upon which these phenomena are based. Here the how and why of these phenomena are explained to the fullest satisfaction of the student.

P. G. Class Room

Here in Mr. Fredrick Breeze's class, physical geography, a study of man's natural environment, is taught. Some of the chief problems in physical geography are characteristic features of plains, plateaus, and mountains, how climate modifies surfaces, how soils are formed, and how climate affects human life and determines man's daily activities.

Biology Lab.

One of the most interesting studies offered to the pupils of North Side is the course entitled biology, which deals with the evolution of mankind. In order to further the study and afford a practical working place, a most complete and modern laboratory has been equipped with all devices for dissecting and studying the formation of all types of animals.

Information Desk

Future messengers? Maybe, but the pupils at the information desk are just North Side's "little helpers". Two different students serve at the desk each period. These persons show visitors around school and give them all the information they can regarding the school, teachers, and room locations. They also carry messages to different teachers and pupils for the Big Chief, Squaw Gross, and Miss Brudi.

Typing

Although the click of the typewriter is deafening to the pupils in the 220 corridor, the commercial pupils will be our future business men and women. The typing room is fully equipped with all the accessories necessary for stenography. The adequate commercial instructors are versed in all necessary information regarding this work and are at all times willing to help a pupil out of difficulties.

Physical Education

Correct posture is very essential to the modern girl and must be maintained if one is to look well and feel well. In the picture are shown some of the exercises the pupils go through in order to acquire and maintain this required posture. Exercises for posture are not the only athletic events the pupils go through, for they have all types of games, such as basketball, baseball, and track that help them build up their bodies.

Home Economics

Home Economics is a subject which includes all interests of home-making. Planning, decorating, and furnishing of the home are included. The planning and serving of meals, laundry work, child care, care of sick, selection and making of clothing taking into account the personality of the wearer and economy, are all included in this course. The sewing rooms are equipped with sewing machines, while the cooking rooms have the equipment necessary in a modern kitchen.

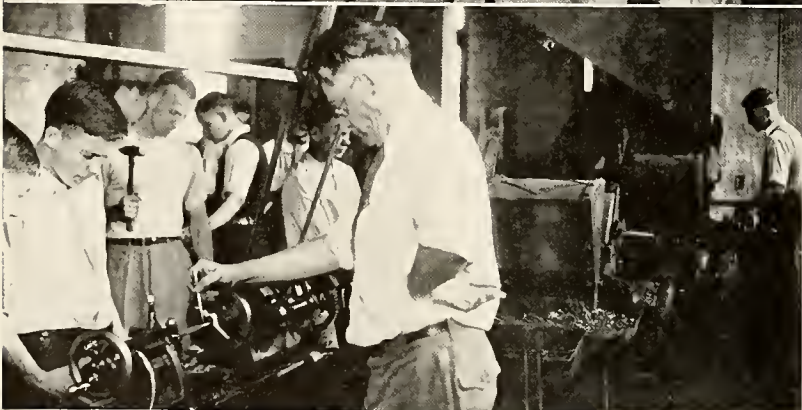

Mechanical Drawing

One of the most popular subjects a boy can take is mechanical drawing. Mr. Cleaver is an efficient instructor of the study. Everything that can be of aid to the pupils is furnished. Each pupil is equipped with the latest in draftsman's tools and materials. In addition, many useful blueprints are made and magazines are furnished from which many ideas may be obtained.

Stain Room

The boys in manual training classes have a chance to give their products a fine coat of stain, paint, or lacquer in the stain room. A modern spray gun for staining and painting is available to the pupils. Only the best materials are used in this room at a small cost to the student.

Wood Work

Many useful articles for the home, yard, and other places are made by Mr. Thompson's manual training classes. All of the saws, lathes, and much other machinery are of the latest types and models. Boys learn how to use their hands skillfully in this course. Four large, well ventilated rooms are used to instruct the boys who are interested in this type of work.

Metal Work

In years to come, as at present, North Side will probably turn out boys who may become mighty fine steelworkers, as the opportunity is offered here to learn the basic principles of metal work. Everything from sheet metal work to the operation of steel lathes is included. In addition to metal work, Mr. Schellschmidt instructs pupils how to make useful articles of cement.

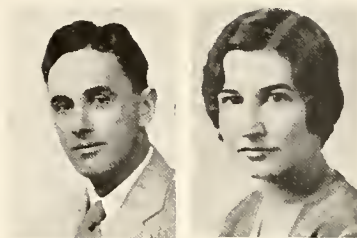

The Seniors Complete Four Years of Outstanding Work

Officers of Other Years Serve Again

The class of 1933 has been successfully guided through this eventful year under the able guidance of four young men. Heading this list and serving as president is the forever grinning Elmer Blume, otherwise known as "Tug". Howard Youse, a boy not so dignified as one would think, as vice-president assisted Elmer in his executive duties. Max Jaehn held the purse strings of the class while acting as secretary-treasurer. Leo Stewart ably directed the social activities. All four boys led their class, being leaders in extra-curricular activities. Too much can not be said in appreciation of the counsel and assistance of the class advisers, Miss Judith Bowen and Mr. Robert Sinks.

Two of these officers this year were former presidents of the class. They are Leo Stewart and Max Jaehn. Leo has also acted as vice-president. Howard Youse also served as vice-president and secretary-treasurer. Elmer Blume and

Senior Advisers

Mr. Sinks

Miss Bowen

Mr. John Robert Sinks and Miss Judith Bowen are the senior class advisers. History and civics are Mr. Sink's hobbies, while Latin takes up most of Miss Bowen's time.

Wilma Geisler share the honor with Howard of being former vice-presidents. Wilma and Betty Countryman were social chairmen, freshman and sophomore years respectively. During the freshman year Don Moorhead acted as secretary-treasurer. There has never once been a regret in the minds of the class over their selection of officers.

Graduating Group Has Full Program

The 1933 graduating class had a very unique senior program. Senior week had that traditional Kid Day as one of its highlights when all of the seniors forgot their much-heralded dignity and dressed like little tots.

Following this very humorous event, the distinguished seniors came to school proudly arrayed in their caps and gowns to receive the last grade cards of their high school careers.

Commencement week began with the baccalaureate service at the Plymouth Congregational Church with Dr. Arthur J. Folsom delivering the baccalaureate address.

The next thing of importance was the period of time that the eminent seniors spent around North Side in reminiscence before leaving the school as graduates. There was an attitude of pathos exhibited by many of the seniors as they lingered around North Side for the last few hours before they took their departure, never to return as students.

On June 13, the Commencement exercises were held in the auditorium before a large gathering of interested spectators. This year, instead of calling in an outside speaker, graduating seniors addressed the august body assembled there. The "History of Fort Wayne" was used as the Commencement theme. There were several living pictures portraying scenes of Fort Wayne history. Kermit Livingston wrote the history, and Howard Youse discussed it. He spoke while the many scenes were being portrayed. The scenes were An Indian Council Fire, The Indians and the French, English Supremacy, Building and Dedication of Fort Wayne (1794), Canal Days, Camp Allen, Industrial Development of Fort Wayne, and North Side Redskins, Successors to the Miami Indians. Howard Youse gave the principal address of the entire program. His discussion was interesting and instructive.

The program, in the form of a discussion, was led by the senior president, Elmer Blume. Others who took part are Don Moorhead, Ted Grisell, Ruth Hessert, and Evelyn Bower. Their topics were: "The Industry of Fort Wayne," "Historic Spots in Fort Wayne," "Education in Fort Wayne," and "Beautification in Fort Wayne."

Mr. William Sur, music supervisor, furnished the music between scenes. The other faculty members who so ably assisted in making the Commencement program a very successful event are Miss Mary E. Cromer, Mr. Charles Dickinson, Miss Venette Sites, Miss Bernice Sinclair, Mr. Milton Northrop, Mr. Rollo Mosher, Miss Victoria Gross, Mr. John Robert Sinks, and Miss Judith Bowen.

Boy and Girl Lead Class Scholastically

Because he had the highest average of the four-year students, Howard Youse was chosen as valedictorian, while Ruth Evans, who had the next highest average, was named salutatorian. Both are members of the National Honor Society and participate in many extra-curricular activities.

Class Leaders

Howard Youse, Valedictorian
Ruth Evans, Salutatorian

First row: E. Pressler, M. Bolman, H. Youse, R. Evans, R. Field, L. Gee.
Second row: R. Hessert, M. Stockmann, L. Frederick, E. Bower, M. Schroff.
Third row: K. Livingston, T. Grisell, L. Stewart, W. Schafenacker, D. Moorhead, B. Garard.

Honor Roll Students Outstanding

At the National Honor Society banquet, which was held May 11 at the Plymouth Congregational Church, Mr. Milton Northrop, announced the students shown above as members of the four-year honor roll.

It is only fitting that some mention be given Don Brudi, one of the most outstanding seniors but who is unable to be listed on the four-year honor roll because he has spent only two years at North Side. The minimum requirement is three years. Don's average is a good deal above ninety percent. He entered North Side in 1931 from Concordia Academy.

Margaret Bolman was outstanding as the publisher of the Northerner, member of the National Honor Society, Quill Club, G. A. A., and Quill and Scroll, and as president of the Garden Club.

Evelyn Bower was prominent in the G. A. A. activities, and was a member of the Quill Club and National Honor Society, and was on the Northerner and Legend staffs.

Ruth Field was noted as the publisher of the Northerner, and as a member of the National Honor Society, Legend staff, and the Quill and Scroll.

Lona Fredrick acted as president of the Geography Council, and members of the Northerner staff, National Honor Society, and Explorers' Club.

Blaine Garard was illustrious in debating activities and president of the A Cappella Choir.

Lucille Gee centered her activities about the Art Club and the Polar-Y.

Ted Grisell, besides being a diligent student, was a member of the National Honor Society, president of the Hi-Y, and a member of various clubs.

Ruth Hessert was president of the S. P. C., a member of the Quill Club, Quill and Scroll, National Honor Society, Red Cross, and Art Club.

Kermit Livingston was active on the Northerner staff, Quill Club, and band, and a member of the National Honor Society.

Don Moorhead was publisher of the Northerner, a member of the Legend staff, National Honor Society, Student Council, and other activities.

Ellen Pressler was active in S. P. C., Garden Club, Polar-Y, and National Honor Society.

Mildred Price was a member of the Quill Club, Red Cross, and National Honor Society.

William Schafenacher was a prominent basketball player, and a member of the National Honor Society and the Hi-Y.

Mary Schroff was active in the National Honor Society and Garden Club.

Leo Stewart was a letterman, and belonged to the honor society and other clubs.

Marjorie Stockmann was active in athletics and was a member of the G. A. A., Geography Council, and National Honor Society.

Karl Arnold took part in junior and senior life-saving, football, and home room basketball.

Charles Alter made many girls' hearts flutter with his curly hair and devilish eyes. He was elected president of the sophomore class.

Merritt Bachstein merited a place in the Explorers' Club, Hi-Y, and Phy-Chem, in his junior and senior years.

Kenneth Altekruse spent most of his time building model airplanes as projects for the Airplane Club of which he was vice-president. He also belonged to the Phy-Chem and Hi-Y clubs and was an active member of the Senior Life Saving class.

Margaret Abbott was best known as Mickey to her friends around school where she took an active part in the Booster Club and the Red Cross. She also belonged to the Girls' Life-Saving class.

John Andrews—In 1931-1932 John attended high school in Hometown. When he came to our large school, he decided he needed a little light on the subject; so he joined the Torch Club.

Vernon Ayers has traveled from Fort Pierce, Florida, to Burbank, California. While he attended North Side, he was the president of Lettermen's Club; on the football and basketball teams; track, and the Senior Play.

Jack Ben Dure—With an engaging smile and sparkling eyes, Jack makes the girls' hearts go twitter, twitter. Besides being a friend of the girls, he is a pal of the boys. Jack was the vice-president of the Lettermen's Club and was active in the Student Players' Club, football, track, Northerner, band, and orchestra.

William Ballou—Sandy-haired, curly-headed Bill belonged to many organizations, so here is the list: Hi-Y, Phy-Chem, Student Players, Art Club, Northerner, Legend, track team, swimming team, life-savers.

Glen Beams is another one of our Lettermen. He is very bashful and sometimes beams just as his name signifies. He is an active member of the Lettermen's Club and has been awarded letters for football and track.

Jean Baxter has for her hobby the art of making the ivories talk. She also belongs to the Art Club, Polar-Y, Home Ec, and the Northerner staff.

Elenore Baker—Owing to Elenore's musical talents, she was a member of the band, orchestra, Honor Choir, and the A Cappella Choir.

Walter Beery—Once one sees Walt, there is no doubt that he should be named "Shadow" or "Slim" or another long lanky name. He was assistant sports writer of the Northerner and another Hi-Y'er.

Evelyn Bower should have been a boy because of her athletic prowess in all kinds of sports. She received a blocked N for her playing in basketball, volleyball, baseball, and tennis. Evelyn belonged to the G. A. A., Quill Club, Northerner, of which she was sports editor, and the Legend, of which she was the feature editor. She was a member of the four-year honor roll and the National Honor Society.

Victor Bobay—Ever since his doll and kiddie car days, Victor has been tickling the ivories for a hobby.

Eulalie Bolman is unusual inasmuch as she is an extremely hard worker, not for herself only, but to help others accomplish things. She belongs to the Booster Club, Garden Club, Polar-Y and the Geography Council. Among the awards which she had received are those in publications work and typing, and she has had honorable mention twice in National Quill and Scroll contests. She has been proofreader, reporter, make-up editor, and copy editor on the Northerner, and typist and copy editor for the Legend. Quill and Scroll claims her.

Elmer Blume, better known about school as "Tug", will always be remembered as the hero who made the hole-in-one in the last fifteen seconds of an overtime sectional championship basketball game with South Side. With the pleasing personality which he has, he was elected vice-president junior class; president, senior class; secretary-treasurer, Lettermen's Club; a member of the National Athletic Scholarship Society, National Honor Society, and was named All-State Forward on the state basketball team. The Student Players' Club, Student Council, Senior Play, football, varsity basketball, and track claim him.

Margaret Bolman—As Roxy says, "Another good staff member gone." Margaret has been publisher of the Northerner and is a member of the Quill and Scroll. She is a whiz at baseball, and won her winged N because of her interest in athletics in general. Some of her other activities include G. A. A., Booster Club, president Garden Club, Quill Club, Student Council, Polar-Y, National Honor Society, copy editor, Legend, Vod-Vil, four-year honor roll.

Burriss Bonham—This dark-haired boy entered North Side from Central High.

Ruth Bertram, quiet and demure is she. Ruth has held the position of vice-president of the Garden Club.

Robert Bruns, Bobbie to us, has such a charming wave that we wonder who sets it.

Van Byrer—Even though Van's time was taken up quite a bit by his work on the varsity basketball team, intramural track team, and on the home room leaders' tournament, he was able to have his name appear on the honor roll and the National Honor Society.

Joe Briggs was a member of the home room basketball team.

Don Brudi claimed membership in the band, orchestra, and German band in which he gave way to his musical talents. He was active in the workings of the Student Council and was chairman of the "Courtesy Week" campaign. He took part in the G. A. A. Vod-Vil and belonged to the Forum and Phy-Chem Clubs. He showed his mental ability by having his name appear semester after semester on the honor roll, obtaining membership in the National Honor Society, and also by winning in the National Quill and Scroll Vocabulary Contest. His best ideas were carried out as editor of the Legend.

Ralph Campbell—Politics is the word, seems if, in Ralph's vocabulary. We prophesy in his later years, that Ralph will be the official campaign manager for the winning president. He was a member of the debating team, the Forum Club, the National Forensic League, and the Northerner.

Velma Brendel is better known as "Babe". She displays a set of teeth which any toothpaste company would be proud to show in an advertisement. She is a member of the G. A. A., treasurer Art Club, Student Players, and Booster Clubs. "Babe" has participated in basketball, baseball, volleyball, Senior Play.

Monroe Brosius—If you should suddenly see a big puff of dust at one of the track meets, you'll know it's just Bud out breaking records again. So far he has set the city record on the 400-yard dash.

Virginia Cunningham, better known as "Ginny", was a member of the Phy-Chem, Geography Council, Garden Club, and Polar-Y. Besides these clubs, Virginia was the winner of the Girls' Tennis Tournament in 1931.

Armella Clark has become active in the Phy-Chem, Booster Club, Rifle Club, and worked on the Northerner.

Virginia Cronkhite was a member of the Girls' Athletic Association and a winner of the winged N and often took part in basketball, baseball, track, and volleyball.

Harold Coar—A chubby little rascal, is this he-man Coar. He may be the apple of his mother's eye, but he's still the good old Coar to us. Harold was an active member of the varsity football team, the varsity track team, the Lettermen's Club, Student Council, home room basketball, swimming team, and the Senior Play.

Melvin Crosby, or better known to his classmates as Bob, was a member of the football team and the Lettermen's Club.

Victor Close was convalescing from an appendicitis operation during his senior year but still kept up with his extra-curricular activities, among which were the Hi-Y, Booster Club, Airplane Club, Student Players, and Geography Council.

Betty Countryman—Here we have North Side's own "blond Venus" in person. Her golden curls have helped her figure prominently as social chairman of the sophomore class, in the G. A. A., where she received her numerals, Polar-Y, Geography Council, Booster Club, athletics, swimming meet and carnival, G. A. A. Vod-Vil, S. P. C., and Senior Play.

Betty Dye goes in for swimming in a large way—by proxy. She's one of those girls who always looks as if she'd just stepped out of a band-box, a rather neat little trick, if you ask us. She's had her finger in several kinds of pie, including A Cappella Choir, Art Club, Explorers' Club, secretary Honor Choir, S. P. C., managing editor Northerner, Legend, "Bon Voyage", Courtesy Week play, and Senior Play.

Virginia Engelbrecht, as vice-president of the Geography Council, has really made a place for herself on North Side's map. She has demonstrated her ability to play on the basketball, baseball, and volleyball teams so well that the G. A. A. broke down and gave her a winged N.

Esther Egolf belonged to the Art Club and G. A. A., and participated in the G. A. A. Vod-Vil.

Herman Elett was a member of the Torch Club, Explorers' Club, has been president, vice-president Hi-Y, president Phy-Chem, vice-president National Honor Society, Student Players' Club, Northerner, circulation manager Legend, Student Council, and Senior life saving. He took part in the individual swimming meet; swimming carnival, home room basketball, varsity swimming.

Margaret Etzold was active in the Explorers' Club, Geography Council, Glee Club, A Cappella Choir, and Vod-Vil.

Richard Deahl—Not long after his entry from South Side, Dick made himself popular on the varsity football squad. He was a prominent member of the Lettermen's Club and won fame as the All-American water boy for the basketball team. His dramatic ability was shown in the Vod-Vil and Senior Play.

Ivan Engle was a member of the football squad and was a home room basketball player.

Martha Feldman has the characteristics of a sweet disposition and a kind word for everyone. She was the Senior editor, Legend; a member of the Student Players' Club, the Northerner, orchestra, and Glee Club.

Ruthella Furnas—Aha! And another of those honored presidents—this time of Inter-Club Council of Girl Reserves, and of Polar-Y.

Mary Jane Fell—A sweet and pleasing disposition is just one of the characteristics of Mary Jane. She is quite a genius at typing and writing poetry.

Wilbur Flickinger entered North Side from the Carson Long Military Academy. The Hi-Y and the A Cappella Choir claimed him.

Blaine Garard—The water rolling over Niagara Falls is like the words which race from Blaine's mouth. With this perpetual motion, Blaine became a varsity debater. Besides having been captain, negative debate team, he was president, A Cappella Choir. The Glee Clubs, National Forensic League, National Honor Society, and four-year honor roll claim him.

Ruth Field—Believe it or not, Ruth (she has red hair) was publisher of the Northerner, member of the Student Players Club, Booster Club, Phy-Chem, orchestra, Legend. She was honored with memberships to the National Honor Society, Quill and Scroll, and four-year honor roll.

Helen Fair—Quite fair is this girl called Fair.

Lona V. Frederick used her mathematical ability as auditor for the Northerner and was a member of National Honor Society and the Explorers' Club. Her executive talent was expended as president of the Geography Council. She made the four-year honor roll.

Kenneth Foellinger—Decidedly blond, good-looking "Kenny" was a "big shot" on the Legend, having been snapshot editor. He also indulged in Hi-Y, interclass track, home room basketball, band, and was one of those smart fellows on the honor roll.

Lucille Gee has been active in the Polar-Y, Art Club, Glee Club, G. A. A. Vod-Vil, and soccer.

Lester Gaylord is a member of the Hi-Y.

Hugh Fawley has been president, vice-president, and secretary of the Art Club and has also received an Art Club award. His other activities included: National Forensic League, band, Student Council, Forum Club, Explorers' Club, negative debate team, ad solicitor, Northerner, home room basketball, Vod-Vil, S. P. C., Senior Play.

Jeanette Fichman—Brown, curly hair is one characteristic which Jeanette has, and plenty of it. Current events is one of the subjects in which she excels, for she acquired the title of a national winner in Current Events Contest, which was sponsored by the Quill and Scroll. Her other activities included the Booster Club, Legend, Phy-Chem, librarian Student Players, debating, National Forensic League, Forum Club, and editor, Northerner.

Ruth Evans is our bookworm. She is the most studious of any girl in North Side's senior class. From this constant studying, Ruth has attained the position of salutatorian. She has been elected to the National Honor Society, and is a member of the Northerner, orchestra, president of Geography Council, and a holder of typing awards.

Kathryn Geyer—Feature this and feature that, but Kathryn was a feature writer and assistant editor, Northerner. She belonged to the Art Club, Polar Y, and S. P. C., and was a Senior Life Saver.

Dorothy Goebel is known by practically everyone in school, her favorite phrase being, "Wouldn't you like to buy a Legend?". Dorothy has done about everything to be done around school, and her activities and achievements include: Booster Club; secretary, S. P. C.; Forum Club, Garden Club, Home Ec Club, Red Cross, Quill Club, A Cappella Choir, assistant editor, Northerner; music editor, Legend; National Quill and Scroll; National Forensic League; G. A. A. Vod-Vil; Rotunda Revel; Senior Play, "Bon Voyage."

Ilo Gick was a member of the S. P. C., society editor of The Northerner, and a participant in the Senior Play, and the "Courtesy Week Play."

Ted Grisell was president of the Hi-Y, and a member of Phy-Chem, Red Cross, Forum, Glee Club, Student Council, National Honor Society, and varsity debating team. He was circulation and business manager of the Northerner. Ted took part in the Senior Play, G. A. A. Vod-Vil, home room basketball. He was on the four-year honor roll and won the Insurance Essay prize.

Margaret Grubb, a member of the Student Players Club, took part in many skits and also had a part in the Senior Play. She belonged to the Polar-Y Club and the Northerner staff.

Wilma Geisler—Vim, vigor, and vitality are the three characteristics which this girl possesses. With these characteristics she has been active as the social chairman of the freshman class and secretary-treasurer of the sophomore class. She was treasurer of the Student Players' Club, and a member of the G. A. A., A Cappella Choir, Glee Club, Honor Choir, and Booster Club, and was circulation manager, Northerner. Wilma took part in basketball, soccer, volleyball, the water carnival, class swimming meets, G. A. A. Vod-Vil, "Bon Voyage", "Bargains in Cathey", and Rotunda Revel. She was awarded her winged N, and a swimming medal.

Bernice Graham—Everyone has heard of graham bread and white bread, but whoever knows this girl would like graham bread the remainder of their life.

Louise Harshbarger is the little gal who is frequently seen using the Northerner telephone for—, well, she says it's business! Besides being the gem of the Quill Club, she also has several other achievements: Honor Choir, feature writer, Northerner; soccer team, "Minstrels of 1930", typing award, honor roll.

Gertrude Heilmann, flaming, flashing Gertie,—blondier than the blondiest, sang in the Honor Choir and was active in Red Cross, G. A. A. Vod-Vil, and Minstrels of 1930.

Helen Hardy is another Polly who learned how to "put the kettle on so we can all have tea" through the Home Ec Club. She was also one of the chief nasturtiums in the Garden Club.

Ruth Hans is one of these strawberry blonds that you just can't help noticing. She was awarded her winged N for being head tom-tom tickler in that squaw's club, the G. A. A., and included among her interests the Booster Club, G. A. A. Vod-Vil, basketball volleyball, baseball, swimming team for girls, of which she was captain. She received second place in the individual swimming meet.

Thomas Haught gives the girls t'ree hundred t'irty t'ree t'rills and heart t'robs when he passes them in the corridors. Tommy was the captain of the varsity basketball team and a member of the Lettermen's Club, Torch Club, Airplane Club, football and track teams.

Vernon Heck—This boy has a name that should be a delight to pesterers and wise crackers in general, but we maintain that it's the boy and not the name that counts. He is another high flyer, being an interested member of the Airplane Club.

Robert Heinig is another ex-Centralite, and his favorite hobby was sports. He was a "trackster" and a regular fellow in home room basketball.

Marjorie Hueber, blondes, and blondes, and more blondes. "Marj" was active in Polar-Y, and won a typing award.

Ruth Hessert is one of these rather quiet girls, who does her work behind the scenes. Prominent in dramatics she has received her gold D and has been president of the S.P.C. Her other activities include: Secretary, National Honor Society; Phy-Chem Club, Red Cross, Art Club, A Cappella Choir, Quill Club, copy editor, Northerner; organization editor, Legend; "Minstrels of 1930", G.A.A. Vod-Vil, "Bon Voyage", four-year honor roll, Rotunda Revel, Christmas Cantata, Senior Play, "Welsh Honey-moon", Courtesy Week Play, "The Thing", and Music Festival.

Loyce Kent has been a member of the Glee Club and the recipient of a typing award.

Catherine Kannel, being musically inclined, had a desire to become a member of the Glee Club.

Jane Jackson—Seeing Jane is exactly like seeing Janet, her sister, so identical are they. She was a popular member of the Garden Club, and participated in volleyball and basketball.

Janet Jackson is the other half of the Jackson combination to fool the public. They're great kids, though, even if we don't know who's who. This one gardens with the Garden Club and plays baseball and volleyball.

Robert Hire, wearing number 14's, has a good understanding of the fairer sex, or it seems as if. Bob is also North Side's star shot-putter. The organizations of which he has been a member are the Art Club, Student Council, Glee Club, track team, band, and sergeant-at-arms of the Lettermen's Club.

Rhoda Johnston is the little blond who plays the big bass viol in the orchestra. That is, that's what we've been told, because no one can see her very well when she hides behind it. Besides that, she is a Home Ec-er and belongs to the Polar-Y.

Max Jaehn can probably be remembered best by his active part in school affairs and also by his scandal at the Senior Banquet. Being a member of the varsity football team, the varsity basketball team, and the varsity track team, Max was awarded the King Trophy and membership in the National Athletic Scholarship Society. He was an active member of the Lettermen's Club, sports editor Northerner, Quill and Scroll, National Honor Society, vice-president of Student Council, president junior class, and secretary-treasurer senior class.

Jack Kammer is the big blond boy with the perfect wave. He's a regular ole smarty, too, for he's made the honor roll and was also a member of the Northerner staff.

Maurice Smith's intended vocation seems to be a commercial artist. In 1932-33 he was advertising manager of The Northerner.

Donald Kaade's athletic ability was displayed on the gridiron and in home room basketball games. He took quite a part in the Student Players activities and was in the play, "Dust of the Road." He was also a member of Lettermen's Club. His vocal talents were brought to view in the Glee Club and the Vod-Vil.

Richard Hendricks—When Dick utters words of affection like the famous Romeo, the girls fall like rain. With this enthralling personality, he has been outstanding in practically every field of work. He was vice-president of Student Players' Club, a member of the Lettermen's Club, Hi-Y, and Student Council; was student manager of both the basketball and football teams, and sports editor of the Northerner and Legend. He took part in the Leaders' tourney, and has a gold "D" in dramatics and membership in the National Honor Society.

Bertha Hessert is one of these quiet, shy girls. She rendered her willing services to the Northerner and Geography Council.

Maynard Cope—Here we may have a future scientist, so far as present indications point. As a member of the Phy-Chem Club, Maynard goes in for all these queer contraptions that give only headaches to most of us.

Tom Laurie, known especially for his red hair, was a member of the Hi-Y and Airplane Clubs.

Mary Knoll—Need we say much about this little girl? Like many of North Side's famous squaws, she is a member of the Polar-Y.

Evangeline Klingman, "Bugs", is the peppy little brunette who goes around school smashing masculine hearts. Her other activities include the Senior play; treasurer, Art Club; Explorers' Club, S. P. C., G. A. A. Vod-Vil, and junior editor, Legend.

James Kirtley—Jim developed his brain and brawn by hard study and work-outs with the football squad. Jim belonged to the Student Council, National Honor Society, and took part in the Senior Play.

Harold Klaehn is an Injun brave who has been a big shot in the Hi-Y, vice-president, to be exact, and has shown his real he-manishness on the football team.

Bronson Kowalczyk—Swallow that name, if you can. Bronson, tall and hefty, played frosh, soph, and junior football, and home room basketball.

Pearl Ladig has been in North Side for only one semester.

Alta LaFollette can be rated among North Side's artists, for she is an active member of the Art Club. Like most talented people she also belongs to the Polar-Y and the G. A. A.

Elmer Lankford is just an old fish—in the pool. He was a member of the swimming team, and can he swim? His interest in the Airplane Club kept his nose in the air when it wasn't under water. He was also the secretary of the Hi-Y.

Wayne Landon is the youngster with the peach blossom blush who toots his horn in the band and orchestra. He is also a member of the S. P. C., the Hi-Y, Glee Club, and the Senior play.

Walter Klinger was appointed advertising manager, and business manager of the Northerner because he was a salesman. With this unusual personality which he possesses, he became active in the band, Phy-Chem, Legend, and home room basketball, and received honorable mention in the Quill and Scroll Ad Writing Contest.

Eugene Kramer may be remembered as the little boy in back of the big mustache, and the microscopic goatee in last fall's one-act play "Bargains in Cathay". Naturally, he's an S. P. C. member, but he also found time for the Hi-Y, orchestra, home room basketball, G. A. A. Vod-Vil, and Senior Play.

William Kroener has one characteristic which we know he wishes he could overcome—the way in which he blushes like a rose. Athletics absorbed much of his time, because he was a member of the football team and home room basketball team. He also belonged to the Lettermen's Club and the Hi-Y.

Ellanor Lawrence has won a typing award while in our Redskin camp.

Arthur Linse might be described as "up in the air" most of the time, for he is the president of the Model Airplane Club and has received the Trans-American Trophy six times.

Alta McCormick—These Polar-Y gals seem to be just about everywhere. Here is one who was so good that they had to give her a ring. Alta is also a gardener, and one of the chief bottle washers in the Home Ec Club.

Murray McLean is the tall lad (5 feet 11, he says) who dashes around in a bright green roadster.

Howard Minser is one of the coming banjo players of the year, according to Dame Rumor.

Donald Leininger is one of that select group known as the Lettermen's Club, whose members proudly roam the building behind mammoth white N's. He played on the football team and shot at tin cans as a member of the rifle team.

Dorothy Manth is rather quiet, one of these girls who has learned the art of when to keep still and when not to. She belongs to the Art Club, Polar-Y, Home Ec, and was one of the intelligentsia who received an award in typing.

Betty Lawrence always reminds us of someone out of a story book. Her poise and charm somehow belong to the age of knights and chivalry. She has been prominent in many activities including vice-president S. P. C.;

point-keeper, Booster Club; secretary Art Club; Red Cross; Glee Club; Student Council; "Bargains in Cathay"; Senior Play; Rotunda Revel; G. A. A. Vod-Vil; Christmas Cantata; Courtesy Week Play.

Florena McFeely, just a tiny little miffit, displayed her interests in the Polar-Y and Phy-Chem Clubs.

Maxine McNamara might be called "the lass with the sparkling eyes," and her eye-lashes are the envy of every girl in school. (Some people have all the luck!) During her high school career she belonged to the Polar-Y, the Booster Club, and the Northerner staff.

Ralph Meyer was a member of the Model Airplane Club and the Art Club, and has taken part in track.

Kermit Livingston is the lad who is planning to take a trip to collect the pot of gold which is said to be at the end of the rainbow. Good luck! He has the honor of completing his entire high school course in three years. His outside activities which he enjoyed are the band, orchestra, Northerner, home-room basketball, G. A. A. Vod-Vil, and Senior Play. Kermit made the four-year honor roll, and National Honor Society.

Willard Lopshire was a member of the Hi-Y.

Don Moorhead's main interest seemed to be in publications because he was the publisher, Northerner, and journalism editor, Legend. He was president, Student Council; president, secretary, Hi-Y; secretary, Inter-Hi-Y Council; secretary, freshman class; National Honor Society, Rifle Club, Art Club, Phy-Chem, Glee Club, track, Torch Club, Rotunda Revel, G. A. A. Vod-Vil, four-year honor roll, life saving, and Quill and Scroll.

Theoline Moyer was honored by receiving a typing award.

Irvin Muhn — When pronouncing Irvin's last name, one begins to believe that he is heavenly. On the Northerner he was make-up editor.

Kenneth Nelson, "Kenny" to you, please, was a tough man in football and a sure-shot in basketball and track. Anyway, he found himself a member of the Lettermen's Club.

Blain Porter liked playing home room basketball. After all, basketball did not claim his entire attention, so he became active in both track and leaders' tournament.

Claris Newport—Being a member of the Girls' Athletic Association, Claris took an active part in many sports such as baseball, soccer, basketball, volleyball, swimming, and track. She belonged to the Honor and A Cappella Choirs. Claris was vice-president of the Polar-Y and was a member of the Booster Club.

Dorothy Paige was a singer in the operetta.

Mildred Price — Tall, slender, and known for her good grades, Mildred's interests were turned to the Quill Club, Student Players' Club, National Honor Society, and girls' athletics. She was awarded first place in the Navy Essay Contest, and made the four-year honor roll.

Mildred Oelschlager — That famous Home Ec Club claimed Mildred as treasurer and president. Despite her duties there, she indulged in Polar-Y, Phy-Chem, Student Players, and swimming carnival.

Richard Osborn, "Dick", North Side's own trumpet tooter, knew his horns when it came to band and orchestra. Besides his musical interests, he indulged in life-saving and Phy-Chem, and was an honor roll student.

Edna Mae Paff was quite a songster, singing in the Glee Club and A Cappella Choir. And that's not all, she earned her numerals.

Lydia Prange may be quiet, but she certainly swings a wicked bat. She was a member of the baseball, basketball, and volleyball teams, and was a supporter of the G. A. A. and the Glee Club.

Seymour Pinkus participated in intramural basketball and belonged to the Airplane and Booster Clubs.

Ellen Pressler will probably be one of Fort Wayne's future club women because of the start she received in high school. She belonged to the Polar-Y, Home Economics Club, Student Council, and Student Players Club; and she served as secretary-treasurer of the Garden Club. She was named to National Honor Society and the four-year honor roll.

Mildred "Millie" Pfeiffer went places as a member of the Girls Athletic Association, Phy-Chem, Home Ec, and Garden Clubs.

Paul Ragan—"Red headed carrot-top" just fits Paul. And when he sported that uniform in the band, what a clash! He also practiced life saving, and was high point scorer in the inter-class swimming meet.

Thelma Robathan, often seen carrying a violin case, seems to have been quite the stuff in the orchestra. One was able to find her very often in the Northerner room, or spending her time with the Home Ec Club.

John Reiber—Oh—that handsome Johnnie! He's another of those few envied boys who contributed to the cause of our varsity basketball team. Was it his good looks that afforded him position of social chairman of his class? We wonder!

Clarence Puff—Here is "Puffie", who is everybody's pal. He was a real worker in football, and also tried a hand in home room basketball. You really should have seen "Puffie" strut when he received his sweater.

Paul Rahdert—Ach! Da German student! Paul was the above mentioned, and he received a German dictionary for his excellent work. He was very interested in home room basketball, band, Geography Council, and track, and was elected to National Honor Society.

Dale Redding, "What-a-man", found a great deal of pleasure in blowing a horn in the band. Not only was he a Hi-Y'er, but student manager of the track team and a debater as well.

Maxine Ray, with an individual personality all her own, entered North Side from South Side. She has made a name for herself in the Art Club, in which she held the position of vice-president, Polar-Y, Northerner, Quill Club, Student Players, G. A. A.

Bernice Rowe was winner of the Gorgas essay contest at North Side. She contributed her talents to the Glee Club and was some wizard at typing, having received a typing award.

Robert Reilly hailed from Central Catholic High School, where he indulged in football. After coming to North Side, he became prominent in Forum, Phy-Chem, Legend, Student Players, and extemp contests.

Betty Rippe—Peppy as she is, it is no wonder that Betty centered her qualities in the Booster Club. Phy-Chem kept her busy part of the time, too.

Wayne Robinson entered from South Side where he was a student for three years and where he was a member of the varsity track team and took part in intramural sports.

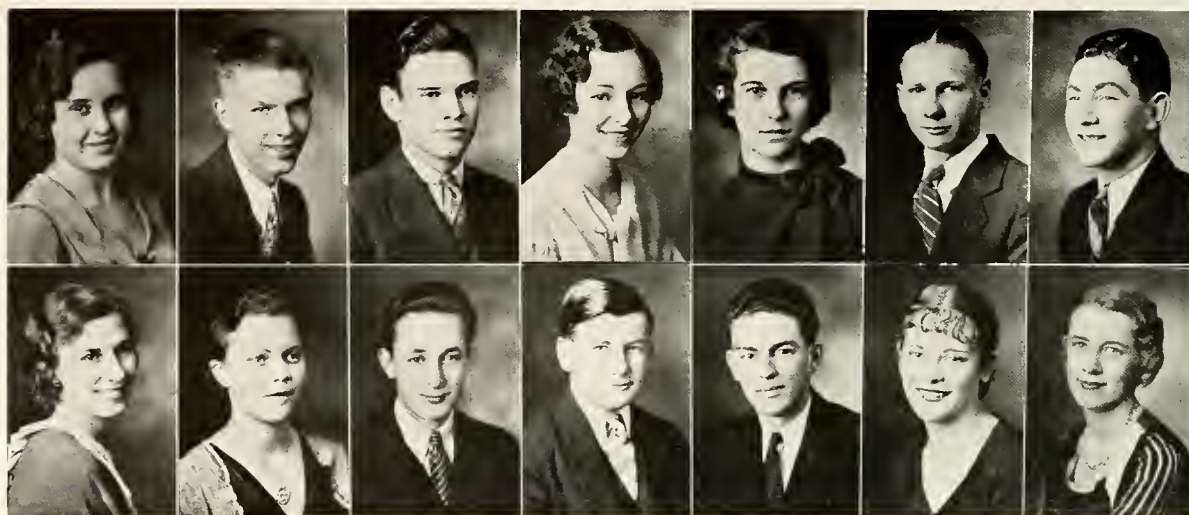

Walter Rodgers is the boy with the nice green car, and an all-round good fellow is Walt. It seems that his chief interest was track, like that of so many of the boys.

Ruth Reiter—G. A. A. caught her eye when she came to North Side from Huntertown.

Mary Lou Rose—Ah! And we now have "Sis", one of the Alma Mater's most beautiful. Despite her invariable habit of attracting members of the opposite sex, she found time to indulge in extra-curricular activities, mostly concerning the Northerner and Legend. She was a member of the Glee Club, Booster Club, Quill Club, and G. A. A.

Arba June Russle—Um! That sweet smile of that blond Arba June! It wouldn't be necessary to do anything to the flowers but have her smile upon them. You see, she was a member of the Garden Club.

William Schafenacker could be recognized in a crowd of thousands with a smile like a half moon. And is it becoming! Bill is a member of the varsity basketball team, National Honor Society, Lettermen's Club, vice-president Hi-Y, and National Athletic Scholarship Society.

Russell Sanders must have had a good time, changing from one school to another. Just look! He attended high school in Washington, Indianapolis, and Seymour, all in Indiana. Here at North Side he participated in the G. A. A. Vod-Vil.

Florence Schlatter attended Franklin High School, Franklin, Pennsylvania, and was active here in Student Players Club, Polar-Y, Northerner, and Girls' Athletic Association. She was also secretary of the Phy-Chem Club.

Mary Schroff entered North Side from Green Springs High School, Green Springs, Ohio, and was prominent as secretary-treasurer of the Garden Club and as a member of the Red Cross Club. She was named a member of the National Honor Society, and the four-year honor roll.

Melvin Seeger played the clarinet in the North Side band and also was a member of the life-saving classes. He made the honor roll by hard study.

Sidney Schecter—"Hurray for 'Sid'!" It was due to his excellent guarding on the Varsity basketball team that gained him the honor of All-State guard, second team. His other interests centered on Senior Play, Lettermen's Club, and football.

Tressa Sefton spent after-school hours writing copy for the Northerner and Legend. She also had time for numerous other outside activities, such as the G. A. A., Booster Club, Student Players', Polar-Y, Glee Club, and A Cappella and Honor Chords. Tressa also took part in dramatics.

the senior year to move to another state, but will return to graduate with her class.

John Sewell, before coming to North Side, attended South Side. Being musically inclined, he had his place in the band, orchestra, and the A Cappella Choir. He also took part in the Vod-Vil and "Bon Voyage."

William Sanner—Small but mighty, is one of North Side's varsity cheer leaders. When Bill wants the crowd to yell, they not only yell, but roar. Some leadership, eh, what? An' talking about leadership. Bill was twice president of the Booster Club, vice-president Phy-Chem, and was also a member of the Student Players' Club and Hi-Y.

Wayne Shambaugh—Slim, slender, and what-have-you describes this black curly-haired fellow, that had lots of fun playing home room basketball.

Margaret Seibert, although entirely feminine, also took part in various athletic games, such as volleyball, basketball and baseball. She helped with the production of the G. A. A. Vod-Vil.

Ruth Shreve was an all-around athlete, having won a winged N for her outstanding performance in volleyball, basketball, baseball, and soccer. She also excelled in swimming, having been put on the team and in the life-saving class. Her other activities included G. A. A., Booster Club, Red Cross Club. She also took various parts in the G. A. A. Vod-Vil and "Bon Voyage."

George Snyder was an active member of the track team.

Evelyn Sprowl, who of the girls at N. S. H. S., was one of the snappiest basketball players of them all. Due to her interest in all sports, she was honored with positions of secretary and president of the G. A. A. She, too, was a member of the Glee Club.

Frances Spencer—Well! It seems that this gal was one of the domestic types. At least, she joined up with the Home Ec'ers.

Mary Spalding was an active member of the G. A. A. and participated in basketball, volleyball, and baseball for reducing purposes, and earned a blocked N. She learned to control her warbling in the Honor Choir, Glee Club, and A Cappella Choir. Mary was the freshman editor of the Legend and a feature writer for the Northerner. She also belonged to the Polar-Y and Student Players.

Howard Snyder gained popularity as a fiery debater, and he was also a member of the Phy-Chem, Forum, and Red Cross Clubs. He also received a senior life-saving emblem.

Leo Stewart will probably turn out to be a politician after holding all these offices: President of freshman class, vice-president of sophomore class, social chairman of junior class, and also social chairman of the senior class. He is a member of the National Athletic Honor Society and four-year honor roll. He is also a member of the National Honor Society, Student Players Club, Lettermen's Club, and the Art Club.

Marjorie Stockmann was vice-president of the G. A. A. and also secretary-treasurer of the Geography Council. She was awarded a winged N for volleyball, basketball, and baseball. Marjorie made the four-year honor roll and was given a typing award. She was girls' sports editor of the Northerner, a member of Student Council, and National Honor Society.

Evelyn Thompson was of the athletic type and was outstanding in basketball, volleyball, and track. She was the winner of a blocked N as the result of her work. She belonged to the Girls' Athletic Association and the Polar-Y Club.

June Swihart has become known among her classmates as a faithful little helper in the library. The Polar-Y and Phy-Chem claimed her as Maxine Suhm—The Garden Club and Glee Club were both interests of this girl who won a typing award. Maxine also took part in the G. A. A. Vod-Vil.

Byron Sweeney, since he had a strut like a peacock, was appointed Drum Major of the band. His other interests were turned to the Phy-Chem Club, orchestra, Glee Club, and track.

Virginia Stockwell was a popular member of the Garden Club and the Glee Club. She took part in the Rotunda Revel and also the G. A. A. Vod-Vil, and the Polar-Y Club.

William Swank was a member of the home room basketball and track teams, 1931-1932.

Richard Stolper received his gold D in dramatics and has been prominent as president of the S. P. C. and president of the Phy-Chem Club. His other activities include Quill Club, Student Council, debating, Legend, National Forensic, National Honor Society, "Pierre Patelin", "Hunger", "Washington", "The Thing", Senior play.

William Thompson's twinkling fingers brought him many typing awards. He also took part in the home room basketball games.

Kenneth Trenner—Here is another coming artist, whom we shall expect to start making illustrated maps of the Indian trails around North Side very soon. You see, he belongs to the Art Club and the Geography Council.

Fred Tone is one of our modern poets whose poetry touches the hearts of his classmates. Fred was a prominent member of North Side's track team.

Betty Traxler was a member of the G. A. A., basketball, volleyball, baseball, and soccer teams. She received typing awards and a winged N as her reward for her hard work. Betty was an active member of the Polar-Y and was a sports reporter on the Northerner. She also took part in the G. A. A. Vod-Vil and the Rotunda Revel.

Ora Ulrey was another girl athlete who won a blocked N for her work in volleyball, baseball, basketball, and soccer. She also belonged to the Geography Council, G. A. A., Northerner, and the Garden Club. Ora also helped in the production of the G. A. A. Vod-Vil.

Margie Thurber formerly attended Central High School, entering North Side too late to join any clubs.

Phyllis Traxler, a prominent member of the Student Players Club, took part in "Bargains in Cathay" and helped in the production, "Dust of the Road." She also took part in the swimming meet, soccer, water carnival, Rotunda Revel, G. A. A. Vod-Vil, golf, Courtesy Week play, and senior life-saving, and was a member of the dancing class. Phyllis' other activities included the Booster Club, Legend, Red Cross, Polar-Y, and society editor and columnist of the Northerner.

Miriam Van Skoik's vocal talents were given over to the Glee Club and other divisions of the musical department.

Frances Wellman—Music, music, everywhere and Francis found it all most interesting; he admits he did. He was a member of the Hi-Y and Honor Choir.

Dortha Wehrly is another one of our girls who is quiet and sweet, and it seems as if she just can't be bothered with outside activities.

Bonnie Watts is the little curly-headed brunette with the sweet smile. She belongs to that band of Eskimos, the Polar-Y, and has lived up to the expectations of her name by joining the Phy-Chem Club. In addition, she has taken part in volleyball and soccer, and has received a typing award.

Alma Vonderau—Quiet, gentle, and studious is this little German girl. A German award was given to her for outstanding work in German. She is also a popular member of the Geography Council.

Maurice Weimer displayed his executive ability by being vice-president of the Art Club. He also belonged to the Booster Club, debate teams, Rifle Club, and Boys' Choir. He won a Gold D for his excellent work as stage manager of the Student Players Club.

Beulah Wagner should make some lad a good wife, for she's learned to spin and churn expertly through our famed Home Economics Club. In addition, she explores and saves junior lives (should we say she junior life saves?)

Robert Kiel—After attending many schools over the United States, Bob finally settled down at North Side. He took part in home room basketball and was a member of the track team.

Marjorie Young—Little "Marge" with the big eyes contributed her pep to the Booster Club. Her other interests were directed toward Northerner work, Rotunda Revel, and typing.

Byron Thompson—This blonde, curly-haired boy is someone for the girls to write home about. We still remember the delicious-looking (?) concoction he prepared at the senior banquet.

Fred Koehlinger is another of these blond boys who is particularly known for his teasing. He drives a Ford around school, and how he drives!

Edward "Ed" Yerrick honestly showed his unusual vim, vigor, and vitality when it came to track. He might be termed small but mighty; and, as a result, he won his letter in track.

Frank Whiteley was like a fish in water and so was a member of the swimming team. Frank, lest we forget, was also a player in the band.

Jane Winbaugh is more or less quiet, at least around school, until it comes to Glee Club and A Cappella. Jane was a member of the Polar-Y.

Howard Youse, the "smart boy" of the '33 senior class, has maintained the position of vice-president of his class throughout three years, besides serving as president of the National Honor Society, and secretary of the Student Council. He was also valedictorian.

John J. Masters is one of our old standbys and quite a whiz at barnyard billiards, sometimes called horse-shoes. He is a member of the Art Club and the Glee Club.

Mary Jane Zelt—The Garden Club doubtlessly profited by the added membership of Mary Jane, who skipped over here from the Luther Institute Business School.

Graham Munro was born in Cargary, Alberta, Canada. He entered North Side from Lake View High School, Chicago.

Charlotte Thiesen was noted for her supernatural ability to squeeze advertisements out of merchants. She was made advertising manager of the Northerner for her fine work.

Memories Remain

Of Glorious Year

It's gone forever. One of the finest, most prolific years in the history of any graduating class has quietly slipped astern as we stream into the tumultuous seas of life. We have kept the torch burning brilliantly and regretfully relinquish it.

We've surely had fun haven't we? There were the tea dances, the dances after the games, all the swell night football games, watching that gold-plated, diamond-studded basketball team of ours making chumps of champs; that wonderful Sectional; that marvelous Regional; and that perfectly scrumptious State tourney where the braves went maudlin and ruthlessly snatched scalps all the way into the semi-finals, establishing a precedent for Fort Wayne high schools.

There were the hops, shuffles, and proms, that glorious Commencement dance, the senior banquet, and boy, oh, boy, those ham sandwiches, baked beans, lemonade, and potato chips at the club picnics.

Well, it's all over now. It's gone forever, but, gee, I'll never forget it, will you? Years hence we'll really enjoy it, living every precious minute over and over. We'll never tire, for these memories, like old friends, will grow more dear to us with every conjuration.

Girl Chosen President of Frosh Class

Results of Freshman Election Announced; Lucy Bobbs, 9A, Will Lead 1936 Group

William, Mary Benninghoff, Homer Mathews Fill Other Positions

For the first time in the history of North Side, a girl has been elected to head one of the classes. Lucy Bobbs, freshman girl, was elected president of the class of 1936 in the election held two weeks ago.

Lucy Bobbs entered from Forest Park last February. She is a popular 9A student and holds the position of proofreader and secretary, clerk of exchanges on the Northern staff.

William Benninghoff and Mary Benninghoff were elected treasurer and secretary respectively. Homer Mathews was chosen chairman of the social committee. Those on the executive committee are: William Benninghoff, Dick Thome, and Mary Ann Mathews.

Over three hundred freshmen voted. Due to Mr. Northrup's absence, the counting of the votes was delayed until this week when Mr. Northrup counted the votes with the help of several members of the Student Council.

Scouts Continue Winter Program

Work on Merit Badges Progresses; Skating Party Planned for Future

Members of the high school and Senior Girl Scout troops are busy working on their merit badge work. Meetings are held each Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church.

In the senior troop meetings the girls are busy studying the new book and also in furthering their own rank in the high school troop meetings.

As usual, scores of the girls are working on their merit badge work. The girls are busy working on their merit badge work. The girls are busy working on their merit badge work.

Hi-Y Sponsors Affair Set for Next Week

Bel's Skating Rink, Twenty-Five Cents

North Side Hi-Y is sponsoring a skating party to be given December 21, at Bell's Skating Rink.

Tickets are twenty-five cents, and can be obtained from Mr. H. C. Maurice, 1421 and Herman, 1421. Those who have tickets and have a car will be going to the rink and get the rink's bus at 7:30 P.M. at the corner of Main and Calhoun Streets.

Workmen Cause Fire

On for a fire, why? Because school might be damaged as it was in the Thomas Jefferson High School in Richmond, Virginia. The men leaving work, carelessly left one of their torches burning when ignited the roof of the school.

American Leaf Collection Sent to England; Letter Expresses Thanks

We, the people of the United States, are unable to appreciate the beautiful foliage which nature gives us on our trees. Instead of having red, yellow, orange, and amber colored leaves, England's leaves turn a pale yellow. During Miss Rutherford's visit to England, she explained to the girls of the Hartley High School the colors which our leaves carry. When Miss Rutherford returned and told how interested they were, she decided to send them some of our leaves. Miss Alexander's biology class presented the brightest leaves they could obtain and named them. These included the ash, sumac, and dogwood.

In addition to these a very beautiful leaf collection which was made by Dorothy Goebel was sent. In appreciation for this lovely book the following letter was sent to Dorothy:

Dear Dorothy:

I am very pleased indeed to have had you make me a present of leaves. I showed it to the girls of the Biology class, and they all enjoyed it very much.

It is quite interesting to know that you found some of the same leaves as I, and others who have never had any new trees to look at, but very recently found them in the woods. We are glad to have them.

Thank you very much for your gift.

Yours sincerely,
"SADIE DAWSON"

Lettermen Obtain Abbott As Speaker

Superintendent To Be Chief Speaker at Lettermen's Banquet on Wednesday

In final preparation for the Lettermen's banquet which will be held at the club on Wednesday 21, in the North Side cafeteria, the program committee which consists of Glen Beams, Andy Greenwood, and Bob Linder, has made out a program which will entertain the Lettermen, and make those who have been away from North Side feel at home.

Speeches by members of the athletic board and Mr. Merle Abbott, superintendent at the city school system, will be featured in the program. Mr. Abbott will preside as toastmaster, and several Lettermen will probably be called upon to contribute impromptu talks during the evening.

The Lettermen will be also represented by Mr. John DeLong and Mr. Marshall. If there is to be a real party, the Lettermen will be in an excellent position to give the Lettermen a good time.

After the Lettermen's banquet, the Lettermen will be in a good position to give the Lettermen a good time.

Bug Follows Redskins from Grade to High School Paper

While beating through several Forest Park Tattlers of a few years ago, one may find that the newspaper bug has followed many students from the staff of the grade school mimeographed magazine to the staff of the Northern.

Barbara Warner, our present editor of the Northern, was a member of the 1926 issue of the magazine. Dorothy Houghton, another member of the staff of the Northern, was the editor-in-chief of the 1926 Tattler. The staff of the Northern, now editorial writer, wrote girls' sports and the like. Christmas Vacation Begins Dec. 27; Term Ends Jan. 27

North Side students will enjoy a shorter Christmas vacation than usual, from December 28 to January 2, inclusive, according to the report given by Milton H. Northrup.

The general term will end on Friday, January 27, and the new term will begin Monday, January 30.

Centenary Program Planned

Preparations for the Sir Walter Scott Centenary program will be in progress at the Central High School as being under the supervision of Mrs. W. L. Scott.

The program has not been fully decided, but the pupils who have just finished will give an appreciation of the life and work of Sir Walter Scott.

Girls Break Even In Junior Election

The class of 1934 chose as their heap big chief, William Cleaver. Bill is also the president of the Rifle Club. Wayne Comment, a letterman playing both football and basketball and acting as the track manager, was placed in the junior wigwam as vice-president just to keep him out of mischief.

Jennie Mae Stout, who was the sophomore secretary - treasurer, had handled her position so well that she was re-elected to this office for the year of 1933. Jennie Mae is one of our letter girls, and she works on the Northerner staff.

In most of the classes the majority of the officers seem to be boys; but it is not so in this class, for there is still another girl who holds an office. Florence Brooks was elected the chairman of the social council. Flossie is very active in athletics, is the vice-president of the Booster Club, and is a member of the A Cappella Choir.

'34 Class Is Large

Approximately two hundred names appear on the graduating list for the class of 1934. Compared to previous graduating classes, the class of '34 will be one of the largest classes to graduate from North Side.

Junior Prom Proves

To Be Big Success

Every year the Junior class at North Side sponsors its usual Prom, which is always a triumphant success. This year's event proved more successful than those in previous years. The Prom was given in the cafeteria, where gorgeous colors reigned supreme. To have seen the beautiful gowns which enhanced the feminine figures would have proved that old man depression didn't have a chance.

The deck of a ship was used as the theme for the decorations. A moonlight sky and comfortable furniture offered themselves for the setting, which was further carried out in the clever favors which were given to the attending couples. Bert LeRoy's Ensigns furnished the music for dancing, which continued from 8:30 until 11:30 o'clock.

Florence Brooks, social chairman of the class of '34, was general chairman for the affair. She was ably assisted by an executive committee consisting of the class officers, Jennie Mae Stout, secretary-treasurer; Bill Cleaver, president, and Wayne Comment, vice-president; by a publicity committee composed of Phyllis Goeriz and Jane Bartholomew; and by the class advisers, Miss Katherine Rothenberger, and Mr. Rollo Mosher.

Mr. Mosher selected a group of

Junior Yell Leader

Bob Dodane, yell leader, at the send-off sophomore students to preside over the check room throughout the evening. Margaret Geyer, Gretchen Hess, Louise Countryman, Gilbert Johnson, Arthur Fruechtenicht, Gail Brittain, and Bob Robinson were given this duty.

Miss Victoria Gross, Miss Hilda Auman, Mr. Charles Dickinson, Mr. William Sur, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Cleaver, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Stout, and Mr. E. J. Comment acted as chaperones.

Juniors Go Ghostly

Ghosts, skeletons, and witches roamed at will between the corn shocks in the cafeteria the night of the junior class Halloween party. Expert fortune tellers and magicians entertained the guests during the evening with their predictions of the future and their mystifying tricks. Most of the evening, however, was spent dancing to the peppy music of Bob Colvin's orchestra.

Class Advisers

Miss Rothenberger and Mr. Mosher are the advisers of the Junior class.

Miss Rothenberger, who last year journeyed to England as an exchange teacher, advises the class officers on class matters. Since she returned from England, she has been called upon to give many addresses at women's clubs and the like.

Mr. Mosher is an experienced history teacher, and knows his civics! Mr. Mosher has had much experience as a school teacher, having risen from a country school mentor to the prominent position which he now holds.

Three Boys, One Girl Lead Sophs

Three boys and one girl were chosen by the sophomore class to act as the class officers. Eugene Hathaway was elected president; Andy Greenwood, vice-president; Margaret Geyer, secretary-treasurer; and Gilbert Johnson, chairman of the social council.

All these students are active in extra-curricular affairs. They also served as freshman class officers last year, the only difference being that Andy Greenwood was president, Margaret Geyer was vice-president, Eugene Hathaway was secretary-treasurer, and Gilbert Johnson was at that time also chairman of the social council.

These officers have served faithfully, planning with the class advisers the social functions of the sophomores.

Class Gives Tea Dance

On April 28, the sophomore class sponsored a tea dance at which a profit of ten dollars was realized.

The committee in charge of the music was composed of Gilbert Johnson and Peggy Cleaver. Margaret Geyer and Andy Greenwood made up the publicity committee. John Dolan, Alice Rastetter, and Arthur Fruechtenicht comprised a helping committee.

Sophomores Engaged In Many Activities

The sophomore class is one of the most active groups in North Side. Representatives of this young group of students may be found in every activity in school. Miss Hilda Schwehn and Mr. Rolla Chambers are the class advisers and have done much to help the class.

Athletics take up a great deal of time of both the boys and girls. Andy Greenwood is one of the most prominent of these, and many other boys too numerous to mention are interested in sports and are potential candidates for varsity teams. The girls are also very interested, as is evidenced by the number turning out for the different sports. Marie Stolte, Faye Swank, Margaret Geyer, Lou Countryman, Mary Olson, Rita Offerle, and Jean Pressler are a few of the many who make most of the varsity teams.

Many of the sophomores' names appear on the honor roll. The following make this list often: Mary Frances Andrews, Dorothy Aumann, Betty Barth, Babbie Emrick, Maxine Connett, Gilbert Johnson, Evelyn Kayser, Alice Rastetter, Leo Stillpass, Norma Rae Woolever, Donald Warner, Arthur Fruechtenicht, and Margaret Sparling.

The music department claims Leo Stillpass, Mary Frances Andrews, Bob Robinson, Arthur Fruechtenicht, Lou Countryman, Norma Rae Woolever, Charles Crouse, and many others.

Some of the sophomores have already given evidence of their interest in dramatics, and much is expected of plays produced in the future.

The G. A. A., Booster Club, Home Economics Club, Art Club, and other activities around school claim many sophomores as members.

Sophs Hold Party For Yearling Pupils

One of the most interesting and amusing of all the get-acquainted parties that were given the freshman class was the Freshman-Sophomore dance held on December 16.

The Sophomore class was the host this time to a hard-times party and dance.

The general theme of the shindig was well carried out by the many old and disreputable costumes that were worn. Prizes were also awarded for the funniest costumes, which were simply screams.

In the first part of the evening games, including chair relays, candle relays, bag bursting relays, and some get-acquainted stunts, were played. Later Bill Wyrick's orchestra provided music for dancing.

The committees in charge of the party were John Dolan, check-room; Margaret Geyer, Eugene Hathaway, Louise Countryman, Lois Miller, and James Meeker, entertainment; John Dolan and Andy Greenwood, tickets; and Peggy Cleaver and Gilbert Johnson, food.

Girl Is Elected Freshman Leader

In the election of officers of the class of 1936 held in December, an unusual thing happened. For the first time in the history of North Side, a girl was elected to lead her class. Lucy Bobbs is the girl so honored.

Lucy entered from Forest Park in February, 1932. At present, she also holds the position of exchange manager and proof reader on the Northerner staff.

William Benninghoff was elected vice-president, while Mary Benninghoff and Homer Mathews were elected secretary-treasurer and social chairman respectively. The social chairman is assisted by a committee consisting of Donald Liebrum, Dick Thieme, and Mary Ann Fishering.

Over 300 freshmen cast ballots in this election. Mr. Northrop was assisted in counting votes by the Student Council.

Many Parties Given To Welcome Freshmen

When the class of '36 entered North Side, it seemed that everyone was certainly glad to see them. They were even vigorously welcomed by the dignified seniors.

Many get-acquainted parties and teas were sponsored for them by different organizations of the school.

Many Freshmen Are Honor Roll Members

Freshmen, although mere "tender sprouts", have been known to accomplish great things. The class of '36 is unique in that its members have already distinguished themselves in various fields of work.

The members of the freshman class as a whole have proved that they can and do get their lessons and consequently get good grades. A list of those freshmen who have been rewarded for their honor work follows: Mary Frances Andrews, Barbara Ashley, Velma Bandor, William Benninghoff, Virginia Blakely, Lucy Bobbs, Debby Bostic, Elbert Bowen, Jeanette Comment, Maxine Connert, Howard Dellinger, Ethel Hatfield, William Hessert, Margaret Johnston, Helen Keipper, Robert Kranshopf, Frederick Lambert, Don Liebrum, Helen Meier, Louise Meyer, Helen Olofson, Faye Pepper, Virginia Phelps, L. Prange, Betty Prill, Cornelius Ryan, LaVonne Waggoner, and Norma Rae Woolver.

Then as to music, the freshmen are proud to have as members of their class Grace Babcock and Helen Olofson, who sing over radio station WGL. The band also claims nine freshman members.

The orchestra has six freshman members.

In recent weeks it has been proved that Mr. Stoner will have some fine debating material in the freshmen: Margaret Frazer, La-Vonne Waggoner, Marvene Barkley, Lucy Bobbs, Garvin Brown, Betty Ruth Howey, Allison Van Wormer, Robert Seaman, Betty Lopshire, Ralph Hengstler, Margaret Johnston, and Elnor Peters.

The freshmen seem to excel especially in sports. Maxine Whiteley, Phyllis Janorschke, Dorothy Gordon, Dorothy Gauert, Virginia Phelps, Gwendolyn Hatch, Velma Bandor, and Kathryn Kreig seem to be our girls' varsity basketball team (in the freshman class). The good boy basketball players are too numerous to mention. Roger Poorman and Joe Shumm seem to be the class' best aspirants for future track stars; however, Fred Day, Carl Walden, and Tom Kelly seem to be plenty good. Virginia Bell, Charlotte Parker, and Clifton Sefton have shown their ability as riflemen and women. Maribel Buchs, Mary Lackey, and Ruth Martin are the "fancy" girl swimmers, while George Follis and Ralph Hengstler are the best boy swimmers. Richard Brown is probably the most prominent football player in the class.

Many of the freshmen must intend to be journalists from the number of them on the Northernner staff. There are approximately twenty freshmen on the staff and many more could and certainly will be. Charles Barnett, Helen Meier, Mary Benninghoff, and Betty Barth do very well at this sort of work. William Benninghoff was honored by membership in the Quill Club.

With a group of freshmen excelling in sports, public speaking, journalism, and good sense combined, North Side is really proud of the class of 1936.

North Side Team Engages In Two N.E.I. Conference Games With Eagles And Comets

Meet Columbia City on Home Floor: Travel To Kendallville Tomorrow

The North Side Redskins will attempt to run their way to a strong city season. Columbia City and Kendallville taught last Saturday night respectively. Both these teams are conference games, and the Redskins are anxious to win them both to improve their conference standing.

Tonight the Redskins will entertain the Columbia City Eagles, who have won eleven and lost of their last sixteen games so far this season and have triumphed over Kendallville, Ellettsville, and Huntington. Central and South Side both have victories over the Eagles, and Hartford City edged out a one-goal win over them.

Windle Lost to Team

The Columbia City lineup includes Langford, Bow, Chapman, Ziegler, and Russell. The Eagles have lost the services of Windle, their star forward, through illness.

There is some doubt as to what night, compare the starting lineup for the Redskins tonight, but all members of the varsity will probably get a chance to perform over the week end.

Kendallville Five Strong

On Saturday night the Warriors will go on the warpath up Kendallville way. The Comets have a strong quintet and will furnish the Redskins with plenty of fast competition.

The Comets have recorded a defeat over Central, but were edged out by South Side by one point and by Central by a narrow margin.

Hastings' Handicaps of Team

The Redskins' handicap is the lack of the Kendallville lineup, and will have to be watched closely by the Redskins if they want to win. Hastings, Zolman, Narkis, Stone, Turner, Pfeiffer, and Hart are the other players who have been action this season.

Redskins Favored To Win Tourney

Billsmen Doped To Take Sectional Honors: Dark Horses Will Enter

The sectional basketball tourney is only three weeks away, and from every outlook it should be the most thrilling and hand-fought tourney ever held in the city between high school teams. Central will be the host of the tourney, and the game will be held at North Side.

Since North Side has won the city basketball championship, they will be favored to win the tourney, but South Side has always been very tough to defeat on North Side's floor and Central's team showed worlds of improvement by defeating South Side in their last game of city competition.

From outside the city the New Haven and Decatur teams will be two quibblers that have very much power and will probably be very much in the running. Many teams will come here from small towns and schools of the surrounding counties and they are expected to produce some "dark horses" which will make the tourney more interesting and thrilling.

County Quintets Play Close Games

Two Games Last Week Were Overwhelming Victories: Four Last-Minute Fills

The county basketball games of last week were played and for the most part were close, hard-fought games.

Two games that resulted in overwhelming scores were the New Haven-Danvers game and the Hartford-Decatur game. In the first New Haven overwhelmed Danvers by a score of 44 to 17, while Hartford easily defeated Decatur by a score of 30 to 12.

The other county games were battles in the last minute. The Mooreville-Cuba were defeated by Romeville in an exciting game by a score of 21 to 27 after the Cubs led 15 to 7 at the half. The Hagland-Wildcats routed the Ellettsville Trojans, 12 to 16, by virtue of their superiority at the free throw line.

The Champs

Reds Defeat Archers; Annex City Basketball Championship for '33

Victory Last Saturday Gave North Side Second Title; Mann, Schecter Lead Scoring

Lead Changes Often; Blume, Bevington Lost To Team On Personals

The North Side Redskins were named the city champions last week by virtue of their 30 to 27 triumph over the North Side Archers. This is the second time in the history of the school that a North Side team has won a city championship, and marks the seventh straight victory for the Redskins this season.

It took a full thirty-two minutes of fast play to decide the champion. Hatches and Arrows flew fast and furious for four persons with the Redskins finally chopping out a three-point victory.

First Half Close

The two teams battled an even terms the whole first half with the Archers leading a strong time defense which the Redskins found difficult in breaking. The Archers jumped into the lead for the last time at the start of the second half when Bevington scored. From then on the Redskins held the upper hand until the gun ended the contest.

Blume, Bevington Reached

Both teams played rather rough with the referees, butting to call the fouls closely. Blume of North Side and "Red" Bevington of South Side, were fouled on personals in the fourth quarter. The Archers scored no more baskets out of thirteen at the foul stripe while the Redskins made none out of six out of thirteen.

Score Disrupted at Quarter

Bevington opened the scoring for South Side in the first period with a free throw. Schecter of North Side tied things up with a foul shot. Bevington then led for South Side by making good on two charity throws. But Schecter came back with a follow-up shot. Mann, Archer forward, was next to break into the scoring column with a free throw and, a few seconds later, with a basket, and Blume duplicated with a basket and free throw for North Side, tying the score at 6-6 at the quarter end.

Blume scored twice for North Side just after the start of the second period, and Haught added another basket to give the Redskins a 12 to 6 advantage. Mann chopped a little off the Red lead with two foul shots, but Haught added them back with a foul shot and a basket. Bevington tried to be undisturbed, added two foul goals to South Side's total. Beating them came through with a field goal to tie the score at 14-14 at the first half end. Every score the Archers laid the lead on the last time with a basket as the third period opened. Schecter made good on two free throws and later added a basket that gave the Redskins a lead which they were never to relinquish. Bevington scored for the Green the foul stripe, and Irons did not do better with a foul goal for South Side. Every came back with a foul shot for the Archers, managing to snare a two-point lead for the Redskins. Lang came scoring for that period and Mann that gave the Redskins a 20 to 14 lead.

Mann Stages Rally

Time to life again in the final minutes during this last period. Schecter scored from 30 feet topped it with a foul shot for North Side. Blume throw, and Bevington kept the running with a basket good on a foul shot by Side's scoring. Mann rally with two baskets, but the rally closed as the one with the Redskins at 27 to 21.

Side and Sidory were a pair outstanding for their team in a fast scoring was concentrated, on each member of both teams deserves credit for his team's free shooting.

The Archers attempted about fifty-five shots during the contest, scoring on ten of them. The Redskins took about forty-five shots, scoring twelve field goals.

Concordia Team Faces Hard Fight

Will Meet Anderson; Junior College Five Swamps Vikings by 41-21 Score

Concordia quelled has a close battle to look forward to on Saturday night when they will meet Anderson in the Fort Wayne school's gym.

Huntington suffered its second defeat at the hands of Concordia at the latter's gym. At the start the teams were evenly matched. Shupe had a "hot" night with a lot of center shots. He was the high point man with 23 points. In the second half the Concordia lads held three down to one goal and free throws. "We are in" was written by Gilbe Zaker, a Concordia player.

Concordia defeated the south by a tight score in a rapid preliminary.

The Redskins Papoucos took the on the slow last over on turn nights from the Auburn and South Side second teams. Better luck in the Papoucos.

The Redskin varsity lined up to everything that was expected of them by taking both Auburn and South Side into camp. City champions! Aren't they?

What a swell-end! Sort of a relief to have those two games over with isn't it? Now to tackle Columbia City and Kendallville!

Williams' fourteen points looked big, but they weren't big enough to enable the Auburn Red Devils to beat the Redskins. Elmer Blume's four points would have amounted to ten or fifteen, if he had hit a good percentage of his easy shots.

Teamy Haught played a brilliant game against Auburn, and deserves most credit for the victory.

Schecter continued to hot the net from the field against South Side. His baskets came in the nick of time.

We might guess here to acknowledge the aid rendered by the Central Tigers when they defeated the Archers, giving the Redskins the chance for the city title.

Bevington scored for the Green the foul stripe, and Irons did not do better with a foul goal for South Side. Every came back with a foul shot for the Archers, managing to snare a two-point lead for the Redskins. Lang came scoring for that period and Mann that gave the Redskins a 20 to 14 lead.

Redskins Win Three Championships on Court This Year

City and Tourney Crowns Annexed

The Redskin court performers boast a City championship, the Sectional championship, and the Regional championship. They went to the semi-finals of the State tournament at Indianapolis before they were finally eliminated by Martinsville, the present state champions. Such in brief is the 1932-33 record of the net team coached by Mark Bills.

The Redskins were treated on several occasions for their fine work on the basketball floor. Many cakes were sent to the players, and malted milks were tendered by local confectioners. Besides all these, the team was given several big dinners, which were consumed with comparative ease by the players, who never seemed to be without appetites.

Billsmen Get Good Start with Victory

The Redskins opened their 1932-33 basketball season by disposing of Masonic Home by a score of 33 to 16. The team looked very promising and a good season was forecast for the Redskins. The starting lineup for this game included Byrer, Irons, Lang, Schecter, and Haught. Irons led the Redskin attack with 14 points.

Central was next to fall beneath the Redskin battle axes by a score of 27-18, but the Hartford City Airedales were too tough on the next evening on the Airedale court where they trounced the Redskins 27-18. "Sid" Schecter played about two minutes in this game until he was benched on personal fouls. This comes very near being a record.

Traveling to Decatur, the Redskins were the victims of some of Decatur's "home floor" luck. The Redskins were leading by six points with about two minutes to play when the Yellow Jackets sank one basket on a legitimate play and then sank three long shots from

Brilliant Uniforms Are Donned by Team

The 1933 team opened their season in new red satin suits, which are quite the latest thing in basketball suits. The red satin sweat jackets were designed by Coach Mark Bills, and there will probably be many other teams seeking to purchase jackets like these next year. The red rayon shirts with white numbers on both back and front and the white ones with red numbers are very good looking besides being very comfortable to wear. The red satin pants and red hose with knee pads completed the apparel of the prospective champions as they stepped on the floor against Masonic Home, in the opening game of the season.

center before the gun went off to give them a winning margin of 26 to 24. It was down at Decatur that Sniper "Sid" Schecter really began to hit the basket in consistent style.

The Redskins came home again on the following evening to take the Wabash Hillclimbers into camp in a very close game, which ended 29 to 28 in favor of the home team.

In the city high school charity tournament North Side defeated Central Catholic by a score of 31 to 26 while South Side was beating Central 21-18. It was against Central Catholic that the combination known as the Redskin speed merchants came into prominence. Schecter, Blume, and Haught made up this fast combination.

In their second city series engagement of the season the Redskins fell before the South Side Archers by a score of 23-21 on the northern court, and this game was every bit as exciting as the score indicates.

Angola found the Warriors off form and turned in an upset over the visitors by a score of 35 to 26. Returning home on the following evening, the North Side team redeemed itself by disposing of the strong North Manchester quintet by a score of 35 to 25.

The next victims of the Redskin hatchets were the New Haven Bulldogs, who returned home defeated 29 to 20. On the following evening the Redskins turned in their most brilliant performance of the season against Central in their second city series clash. The Redskins romped through the Tiger defense, rolling up a total of 41 points while the uptown players were scoring 15.

Portland crumpled under the Redskin onslaught at Portland and lost 35-22. The Garrett Railroaders were railroaded by the Warriors to the tune of 32-29 on the North Side floor.

The Redskins sailed through their toughest week-end of the season beating "Williams and Company" from up Auburn-way 28-21, and annexing the city title by besting the South Side Archers at the southern court by a 30-27 score.

The next week-end saw the newly crowned city champs slump and drop games to Columbia City and Kendallville by scores of 30-25 and 22-19 respectively.

Ending up the season right, the Redskins trimmed the Bluffton Tigers 19-15 on the Redskin court and traveled to Huntington to take the Vikings into camp by a score of 33 to 17.

The members of the reserve team which won most of its games this year and which will furnish material for next year's team are Crance, Esterline, Rolf, Cooper, Sievers, Meyers, Nill, Rabus, Kreig, and Barclay.

Sid High Scorer

"Sid" Schecter was high scorer for the season, and he was closely followed by Blume, Haught, and Irons in the order named.

After concluding a successful season, the Redskins entered into tournament competition to make the best showing ever made by a Fort Wayne team. They breezed throughout the sectional and regional tourneys and proceeded to the semi-finals of the state tournament before they were finally stopped by the championship Martinsville Artesians.

In their first game of the sectional tournament the Redskins disposed of the Woodburn Warriors by a score of 32 to 11. In their second game, which was probably the best one of the tourney, the South Side Archers were defeated by a score of 27 to 25. It was Blume who threw in the winning basket in the closing seconds of the overtime period. Schecter also scored a basket in this overtime period, but it was Tommy Haught who really inspired the team by tossing in three fielders at the beginning of the second half to put the Redskins back on even terms with the Archers.

In the semi-finals of the tourney the Redskin varsity reserves managed to turn in an impressive victory over the Arcola quintet by a score of 34 to 10. Schafenacker went in for some high scoring in this game.

Playing great ball, the Redskins swept to a crushing victory over the Decatur Yellow Jackets in the final game of the tourney. The Yellow Jackets were unable to get started; and when the final gun ended the game, the Warriors, led by Tommy Haught, had piled up a total of 40 points while the Yellow Jackets were getting 12.

The Redskins remained invincible in the regional and downed the Bluffton Tigers in a rough game, which ended with North Side on the long end of the 31 to 24 count.

In the final game of the regional, the highly touted Hartford City Airdales, N. E. I. C. champions, fell before the Redskin offensive by a score of 40 to 35. A freak basket which bounced in from the floor for the Airdales was not enough to keep the Redskins from winning. This victory, however, was very costly, for Tom Haught, captain and star of the team, was seriously injured in the second half, and the Redskins were forced to go without his services in the state tourney at Indianapolis. Tommy went along to Indianapolis and donned his suit, but was permitted to play only one minute of the Beaver Dam game.

The Redskins had a great time down at Indianapolis. They left school by automobile on Thursday afternoon after a big pep session in which all three city high schools participated. Captain Tommy Haught was presented with good luck emblems by Central and South Side.

When they arrived at Indianapolis, they went to the Indianapolis Athletic Club where they were to stay during the tourney.

The Redskins traveled back and forth by automobile from the club to the Butler Field House. They remained at the club until Sunday morning after the tourney when they traveled back home to Fort Wayne.

During their stay in Indianapolis, the Redskins received many telegrams from their supporters in Fort Wayne, and when they came back home they were entertained on several occasions for their good work in the state tourney.

Gus Lang, Elmer Blume, and Sidney Schecter were three of the Redskins who were mentioned for all-state positions.

In their first game down at the state the Redskins disposed of Beaver Dam in a hard-fought tilt that finally ended with North Side on the long end of the 37 to 25 score.

In their second engagement the Redskins encountered the highly-touted Muncie Bearcats and upset the dope bucket by turning in a surprise win over Muncie by a score of 28 to 24. A pass from Irons back over his head from pivot position to Schafenacker, who took the pass in under the basket to score, made the tourney fans sit up and take notice.

In the semi-finals the Redskins ran up against the Martinsville Artesians, present state champs, who managed to stop the Redskin attack and win by a score of 23 to 14, thereby ending another basketball season for the Redskins.

Gus Lang

Basketball letter winners this year are Haught, Schecter, Blume, Lang, Irons, Schafenacker, Ayers, Byrer, Pletcher, Comment, and Reiber. Of these, Comment and Pletcher are the only ones to return next year. With these as a nucleus Coach Bills hopes to build up a powerful aggregation, which, we hope, will go far.

Home Room 320 Is Intramural Champs

On Monday, March 27, the home room tourney started with teams from 232 and 233 playing the first game. Room 232 won by a large margin, the score being 21 to 15. Several good teams showed up in the games with good material for next year's varsity squad. The most humorous incident of the first night of ball came when a player on the team 234 tossed in a goal for the other side.

On Monday, April 28, the final games of the A and B tourneys were played. The final teams had been practicing for the final play-off after school during the week so the final games would be good.

The first games were played by the finalists of the A tourney, Rooms 320 and 322. The game started with a tight defense on both sides and with both teams feeling each other out. Finally Gene Gray broke the spell by sinking a long shot from out on the floor. As soon as the ball was again in play, Clayton Herrick shot a long goal from center of the floor to start the rout. Bob Gillieron then followed with some snappy floor work to credit himself with a few goals. Howard Beery was left unguarded for a few seconds, but that was all the time needed to put in a basket for 320. Paul Gillespie, working with Bob Gillieron in some fast pass-work, faked the ball through the net several times for many of the points. Thus the game developed into a one-sided affair, with 322 going down in utter defeat, and 320 emerging the brilliant victors by the score of 44-12. The managers for the two teams were Dick Deahl managing for the winners, 320, and "Tug" Blume managing for the losers, 322.

The B tourney final game was played right after the A game. The two contestants were 233 and 330. This game was fast and furious from beginning to finish with players on both sides doing some nice shooting. When the gun sounded the score stood 18 to 16 in favor of 233.

Mark Bills found sound varsity timber for next year's team in the following players: R. Brown, Uterbach, Brumm, Wehrenberg, Madden, Hedges, Harter, Clawson, Shumm, LaTourette, Sauer, Shoaff, G. Johnston, Wilker, C. Herrick, Weaver, Hill, G. Follis, Holman, Shilts, Cronkhite, Wass, Vonderharr, Kelly, Day, Miller, and Peters.

All-American Five Wins Leaders' Meet

The annual Leaders' Basketball Tourney began October 13, under the supervision of Mr. Sinks. The purpose of this tourney is to uncover some promising basketball material.

The tourney this year was won the second consecutive year by the Original All-Americans. The winners defeated the Miamis in the finals.

The All-American team was composed of Bernard Weaver, Bob Gillieron, Walt Beery, Bob Meyers, Wilbur Flickinger, and Dick Hendricks, captain. They were coached by Van Byrer and Bill Schafenacker, members of the Redskin varsity and former players on the All-American team.

The Miami team, which was defeated, was composed of Bruns, Murphy, Mathews, Briggs, Cooper, and Gaylord. Bob Bruns and Dick Hendricks were captains of the opposing teams in the finals.

Athletic Board

We have on our athletic board Mr. Northrop, who is the big chief of North Side; Mr. Bills, who coaches our football and basketball teams; Mr. Chambers, who turns out winning track teams quite often; Mr. Ivy, who has a swimming team of which the school is proud; Mr. Eyster, who teaches shorthand and typing; and Mr. Delong, who teaches history. Mr. Eyster is treasurer and Mr. Delong chairman.

Short Shots

Redskin fans were jubilant when the Warriors romped through the Sectional tourney, and they were even happier when they sailed through the Regional, but their joy knew no bounds when the Redskins upset the dope bucket by trimming the highly touted Muncie Bearcats to enter the semi-finals of the state tournament where they were finally eliminated by Martinsville, the present state champs.

This Muncie game took too much out of the Redskins, who looked very tired as the Martinsville Artesians edged out a 23 to 14 win to advance to the finals. The score was tied at the beginning of the last period, but at this point the Redskin defense cracked to allow the Artesians to win, thus ending the basketball season for the Redskins and ending the basketball careers of nine of the Redskin players.

Two "Dicks" Had Jobs Of Athletic Managers

The two "Dicks," Dick Deahl and Dick Hendricks, were very capable managers of the basketball and football teams. Dick Hendricks had the very difficult job of manager of the football team, while Dick Deahl held down the position of manager of the basketball team.

Boosters Support Team With Vigor

The sensational success of our basketball team this year was due in no small measure to the work of the yell leaders. Enthusiastic, lusty cheering is an aid to the moral attitude of the players when the cheering is organized and sincere.

Bill Sanner, Bob Dodane, and Tom Getz, varsity yell leaders, are the small, but mighty, boys who instilled pep in the crowds by the peppy and efficient manner in which they controlled the enthusiastic fans.

Credit is due to the reserve yell leaders, "Jiggs" Swanson and Joe Fitch, who will graduate to the senior yell leaders' positions next year.

The Booster Club, of which the yell leaders are members, has several important functions in connection with the staging of athletic contests. The Booster Club plans and controls all pep sessions and is responsible for the students' conduct at these sessions. They also are in charge of all the decorating and general appearance of the gym. All concessions and selling of banners and novelties are under the direction of this organization.

Each spring a dance, in honor of the varsity lettermen, is sponsored by the club, and several other social functions are held during the year. The club buys the sweaters which are awarded to the varsity yell leaders.

The officers of the Booster Club are: Bill Sanner, president; Florence Brooks, vice-president; Jane Bartholomew, point keeper for the games, and Mary Lou Thomas, point keeper for pep sessions. Hilda Auman, Kathryn Rothenberger, and Oral Furst, members of the faculty, serve in an advisory capacity.

Three of North Side's team were mentioned on all-state teams as a result of their fine play in the tournament. Blume, who was high point scorer for the Redskins in the tourney, Lang, and Schecter were the honored ones.

Gridmen's Average Even in Battles

The Redskins had a rather disappointing season on the gridiron this year, winning only three, losing four, and tying two of their scheduled games.

The Redskin varsity was made up of Nelson, Comment, and Lang, ends; Pletcher, Kroener, and Seivers, tackles; Cronkhite, Vachon, and Hoffman, guards; Ben Dure and Crance, centers; Blume and Kaade, quarterbacks; Deahl, Coar, and Greenwood, halfbacks; Marshall, Stewart, and Ayers, fullbacks. Hendricks was the student manager of the 1932-33 football team.

Others who saw action in games this year are Puff, Beams, Feichter, Shipman, Schomburg, Pinkus, Leininger, Poorman, Rolf, and Lindsey.

Seniors who won letters in football are Blume, Nelson, Stewart, Coar, Deahl, Kaade, BenDure, Beams, Hoffman, Puff, Kroener, Ayers, and Lang.

Next year's team should develop into a strong eleven, since there is plenty of promising material left from this year's squad. Comment, Crance, Pletcher, Vachon, Cronkhite, Marshall, and Greenwood, all varsity players, will be back in Redskin uniforms next year besides many other underclassmen who will develop into varsity material by next year.

Paul Faylor, '32, who won three letters in football, came back this year to assist Coach Bills in his coaching duties. Faylor also had charge of the freshman-sophomore football tilt, which the frosh won.

The season's record for the 1933 team is as follows:

North Side, 0; Lima Central, 0.
 North Side, 6; Goshen, 12.
 North Side, 14; Auburn, 14.
 North Side, 12; Central, 25.

 Total—North Side, 72; Opponents, 103.

Football Men Are Singers

When the North Side football team traveled out of town for games, it was the custom to appoint a singing master and have a concert during the trip.

About the middle of the season the boys became so proud of their vocal talents that they organized the "Varsity Chorus." The end of the season, however, broke up this wonderful organization.

First row: Wills, Steele, Esterline, Dodane, E. Yerrick, Tone, Robinson, Greenwood, Bozer, Buelow, Irons, Hire, Coar, Stewart, Monnot.

Third row: Feiertag, Bradley, Lockner, Weaver, Williams, Kowalczyk, Sefton, Beams, Nelson, Gaunt, Marshall, McKay, Student Manager Comment, Student Manager Rolf.

Fourth row: Sievers, Orr, J. Munro, Ivy, Meyers, Begley, Hathaway, Kelly, R. Munro.

Track Team Hangs Up Good Record During the Season

The North Side thinly-clads had a very successful season this year. Before the regular season began, hopes weren't any too high for a good year, but with the first meet, North Side knew they had a real track team.

North Side got off to a good start when we took the Auburn Red Devils, 58 to 57. This was the first time in the history of North Side that we beat Auburn. The next victims to fall before our tomahawks were the alumni. We won over them, 64 to 42.

Elkhart, which has one of the best teams in Indiana, nosed us out by a 60 2-3 to 48 1-3 count. Kokomo, another one of Indiana's foremost track teams, won by a 58 to 48 tally.

North Side was invited to the Kokomo relays, where we took fifth place. The Conference meet, held at North Side, was a heart-breaker. South Side beat us out by one point. The score was 51½ for South Side and 50½ for North Side. The sectional meet was held at Garrett this year. North Side finished in third place. Five men from North Side got a trip to Indianapolis to compete in the State meet. Bob Irons took second in the high jump and Bob Hire took fourth in the shot put.

Bob Irons Shatters

Mark at State Meet

Bob Irons, basketball star for the past two seasons, has shone very brightly on the cinder path also. Bob has been setting and breaking field records all year. His best jump of the season was up at Elkhart where he cleared the bar at six feet three inches. Bob broke the state record of 6 feet, 7⅞ inches at the State Meet, by jumping 6 feet, 27⅞ inches but did not get first place for Grayson of Froebel jumped 6 feet 37⅞ in.

Bob Irons, record high jumper, is shown at right, and his coach, Rolla Chambers, is in the picture below.

Rolla Chambers Again

Produces a Winner

Rollo Chambers, besides teaching physics, coaches the track team. Mr. Chambers has been coaching track since school began here in 1927. He came here from Columbia City where he turned out successful teams year after year. He is also repeating here at North Side. Coach Chambers has won the city championship for the last four years in a row. We hope that Mr. Chambers will continue to produce bigger and better track teams at North Side.

Redskin Paddlers

Credit to School

North Side's aquatic activities during the 1932-33 season, under the supervision of instructor Hyrle Ivy, brought to light some excellent material which led the swimming team to a creditable standing in inter-high school competition.

During the year the team participated in four meets, two with the Huntington Y. M. C. A., one with South Bend and one with Columbus. All of these brought North Side to the fore as notable contenders for existing honors and will be remembered as good events.

In Tom Vachon, North Side boasts a state champion. Tom's ability as a free-stroke swimmer has won for him the title, with a record of 40 yards in 2:0.8.

In the diving class, Andy Greenwood is entitled to North Side's crown by virtue of his triumph over South Bend's fancy diving ace, who went undefeated by anyone in the state until he met Andy.

The team, this season, included Tom Vachon, Herman Elett, Richard Scott, Dick Strock, Robert T. Johnston, Elmer Langford, William Ballou, Andy Greenwood and Art Ehrman. Owing to the fact that every member of this well-developed team, with the exception of only two breast-stroke swimmers, will be retained for next year's activities, Mr. Ivy is justifiably of the opinion that the 1933-34 varsity team—with the addition of some very promising material now in the making—will prove a strong one and one that will make North Side outstanding among the state high school swimming enthusiasts.

Wilma Geisler, Dick Strock Are Champs

The best work of the swimming season was accomplished in the individual swim meets, in which the members of both the girls' and boys' teams gave particularly good accounts of themselves. Among the boys, Dick Strock took first place in three individual events, for which he was awarded a gold medal. Dick also holds the school record for doing 100 yards in 1:6.6.

Four successive triumphs, one for each year at North Side, are recorded to the credit of Wilma Geisler in the girls' individual meets. Wilma has four gold medals to show for her good work, and she can do 220 yards in the remarkable time of 3:23.

In the intra-school meets many fine swimmers have turned out in the girls' and boys' divisions. Ruth Reiter of the class of 1933, and Bonnie Campbell, each hold two pool records. Tom Vachon is holding the record in two events and is tied with another for three records.

Girls' Athletic Association

Girls' Athletic Association Attracts Large Membership

The Girls' Athletic Association is one of the most important and most active of the organizations at North Side. Its membership totals 105.

Awards in the form of numerals, blocked "N", and winged "N", are given to girls participating in the various sports. To receive the numerals a girl must have 300 points; the blocked "N", 600 points; the winged "N", 1000 points.

Each year the girl who has attained the highest number of points is honored by having her name engraved upon the G. A. A. Trophy.

Miss Schwehn Busy

This year marks the sixth year that Miss Hilda Schwehn has been at North Side High School as gym and swimming instructor. She is a very capable mentor. Always before, Miss Schwehn has had an assistant to help with some of her work, but this year she had no assistant. Therefore, she has had twice as much work to do. Besides her class work, she spends a lot of time after school hours with volleyball, basketball, swimming, and baseball teams and the G. A. A.

The sophomore basketball team won the class championship and the members were rewarded by having their names engraved on the cup. Their fast play and good sniping won for them.

G. A. A. Shorts

Under the capable direction of Miss Schwehn, very fine basketball, baseball, volleyball, and track teams were turned out. The track season, although cut short, was very successful.

Evelyn Sprowl showed up as one of the best basketeters among the girls. She garnered a goodly number of points during her four years on the basketball squad.

Many of the senior girls have played all four years on a varsity team. Ruth Shreve, Evelyn Sprowl, Margaret Bolman, Virginia Engelbrecht, Ruth Hans, Lydia Prange, and Betty Traxler made the varsity basketball quintet every year.

G. A. A. Vod-Vil Aids Other Organizations

Again this year a G. A. A. Vod-Vil was presented. This annual affair, a vaudeville with all the organizations in North Side presenting acts, has proved very popular; and no previous performance outshone this year's.

The theme of this year's production was a "Showboat." The event was under the general direction of Miss Hilda Schwehn, adviser of the G. A. A. She was assisted by Florence Brooks, Marjorie Stockmann, Helen Mundt, Margaret Mahuren, Virginia Engelbrecht, Evelyn Bower, Dorothy Janorschke, Margaret Bolman, Mary Lou Thomas, and Jane Bartholomew.

Only one performance was given this year, and that was on the night of November 11. The class of 1933, for the second successive time, was adjudged the winner because it presented the best stunt. Three organizations tied for second place, and two groups tied for third place. The winning group had its name engraved on the trophy obtained for this purpose.

The profits of the Vod-Vil were divided half and half between the G. A. A. and the organizations taking part in it.

The eats those girls consumed at the banquet would bury a house!

Many Girls Report For Volleyball Teams

An unusual amount of material turned out for volleyball at the beginning of the season. The seniors of the class of '33, however, were the champs, with the Juniors as runners-up.

In January two All-Star volleyball teams were chosen to "battle it out". They were paired off as the Red and White teams. The Red team proved the stronger by winning three out of four games.

The Red team consisted of Evelyn Bower, captain; Evelyn Sprowl, Dorothy Janorschke, Dorothy Meyer, Margaret Seibert, Edith Hemmer, Velma Brendel, and Ruth Shreve. The White team was composed of Mary Lou Thomas, captain; Florence Rupp, Gwendolyn Hatch, Wilma Geisler, Marie Stolte, Florence Drake, Louise Countryman, Virginia Cronkhite, and Lois Miller.

Basketball Again Is Most Popular Sport

Basketball again proved to be one of the most interesting and most popular of sports. Smooth performance and sportsmanship were the characteristics found on every team taking part in the tourney.

As usual, the Junior-Senior tilts proved to be hard battles and were attended by small but appreciative crowds of supporters. However, the swift and clever Sophomores provided an upset in the basketball regime. They captured the honor of having their name engraved on the trophy for 1933. They lost only one game, tied two and won three.

The Sophomore team was composed of Louise Countryman, Marie Stolte, Faye Swank, Rita Offerle, Marguerite Bickel, Margaret Geyer, and Mary Olson.

The G. A. A. Vod-Vil was one of the outstanding events on the calendar this year. The senior class was again awarded first prize for their clever stunt.

Banquet Again Held

Another affair which is a red letter day on the G. A. A. social calendar is the annual banquet. This year's banquet was held on May 12.

The theme of the banquet was that of a circus. Tables were arranged in a circle, while balloons and other circus decorations were carried out in brilliant reds, orange, yellow, greens. The place cards were bright silhouettes of circus animals, and favors were gum drop animals. The ringmaster was Florence Brooks.

Speeches were given by representatives of each class, and stunts were presented by members of each class.

Awards were presented to the following: Winged N, Margaret Bolman, Florence Brooks, Jennie Mae

Tennis Tourney Held

Last fall a tennis tournament was started for the girls in North Side. The first part of it was to be played at Lakeside Park, and the finals were to be played at the Fort Wayne Country Club. However, because of bad weather, the last sets were never finished.

Baseball Diamond Proves Big Lure

A very successful season was enjoyed by the baseballers this year. The seniors especially had a strong team and won many of their games. Ora Ulrey captained the seniors, and Verda Pfeiffer was the head of the junior group.

The players on the senior baseball team and their positions were Evelyn Sprowl, catcher; Ruth Shreve, pitcher; Wilma Geisler, pitcher; Virginia Engelbrecht, first base; Margaret Bolman, first base; Ora Ulrey, second base; Evelyn Bower, third base; Claris Newport, shortstop; Lydia Prange, field; Betty Traxler, center field; Virginia Cronkheit, field; Edna Paff, field; Marjorie Stockmann, field.

Two Soph, Frosh Teams

The material for the sophomore team was so numerous and of such good quality, that two teams were chosen. The "A" team was as follows: Lou Countryman, catcher; Mary Heckler, catcher; Marguerite Bickel, pitcher; Muriel Harper, pitcher; Mary Olson, first base; Florence Gallmeier, second base; Mary Jane Michaels, second base; Audrey Meehan, third base; Mary Ellen York, shortstop; Betty Stewart, field; Ruth Chandler, field; Margaret Geyer, field.

The sophomore "B" team consisted of Florence Drake, catcher; Helen Gillespie, catcher; Marie Stolte, pitcher; Helen Johns, pitcher; Lois Eby, first base; Rita Offerle, second base; Coral Zwick, second base; Jean Pressler, third base; Rosemary Stanger, shortstop; Helen Kramer, field; Edith Hengstler, field; Mary Stauffer, field.

The freshman class also had material enough for two teams. On the "A" team were Virginia Phelps, catcher; Elaine Weaver, catcher; Maxine Whitely, pitcher; Roseanna Drewett, first base; Betty Rabus, first base; Betty Schlosser, second base; Betty Howey, second base; Gwen Hatch, third base; Lena Jones, third base; Evelyn Ulrey, shortstop; Anna Burry, shortstop; Mary Gilbert, field; Betty Prill, field; Helen Brudi, field.

The freshman "B" team comprised Phyllis Janorschke, catcher; Laverne Anderson, catcher; Lila Capatina, pitcher; Mary Spice, pitcher; Adele Bueker, first base; Lucille Prange, first base; Doris Gordon, second base; Geraldine Houser, second base; Dorothy Edwards, third base; Katherine Kreig, third base; Dorathe Gauert, shortstop; Helen Kipper, shortstop; Carol Traxler, field; Phyllis Proxmire, field.

A very full season was carried on by the girls in athletics this year.

The G. A. A., under the direction of Evelyn Sprowl, Marjorie Stockmann, and Florence Brooks, had a very successful year.

Velma Brendel was the hard luck girl this year. Because of an injury to her foot, she was unable to participate in athletics. She was awarded her winged "N" by unanimous vote of the G. A. A., because she lacked only a few points to receive it.

A group of fifty girls presented some very clever dance numbers at the city-wide exhibit held at Central during May.

The senior white team won the volleyball championship. Miss Schwehn was to give 'em a feed, but it was not forthcoming!

Inhabitants of the jungle roamed at will at the annual G. A. A. banquet. The circus theme was carried out, and lions and other beasts were in evidence.

Lou Countryman was an elusive, fast-playing forward and accounted for many of her team's points.

The sophomores and frosh had two baseball teams while only enough upperclassmen turned out for one team for each class. This is usually the case.

Here's hoping for another good season next year!

Mr. Northrop and Miss Gross were especially fine as Mr. Barnum and Miss Bailey respectively at the G. A. A. banquet.

That senior baseball team really went places this year!

Composer Will Attend Evening Performance; Music Director in Charge

Next Friday the students of North Side are to receive a rare treat in the presentation of the musical comedy "Bon Voyage" in which over two hundred students of the music department will participate.

Two performances are to be presented on Friday, March 31. A matinee performance will be given for the students in the early part of the afternoon and the admission charge for this performance will be five cents.

The reason for the low admission price is that those in charge feel that the show is such an excellent one that they wish as many students possible to attend the operetta. The evening performance starts at 8 o'clock and the uthy Bennett, Gertrude Hellmann, Charles Newport, Mary Helen Cameron, Jeanne Shoolman, and Virginia Falk have been selected to act as models.

Of all seasons in the year, Spring is the season which ushers in the most attractive wearing apparel and this fact is especially true if one considers clothing for the high school girl. North Side students are fortunate in securing the convenience of the Department

Department Store in this undertaking because they have put at the disposal of the models not only the latest and smartest styles in suits, frocks and informal dresses, sports dresses, and shoes, but also the advice and guidance of their style experts and New York buyers. The Karode Company has promised that nothing but the latest and most attractive of the spring offerings will be presented.

Student Council Is Influential Group

Considered the most outstanding group in the school, the Student Council has done much this year to show that it is outstanding and that it is very influential in the school.

Together with Mr. Northrop, adviser of the organization, the following officers planned the work done by the council: Don Moorhead, president; Max Jaehn, vice-president; and Howard Youse, secretary.

The Student Council is comprised of one member from each of the home rooms, the presidents of all organizations, class presidents, publisher of the Northerner, editor of the Legend, and athletic representatives. Its purpose is to establish and help direct a contact between the faculty and the student body.

The Student Council, like every well organized body, is composed of several committees. This year the following chairmen were appointed: Steering, Don Brudi; traffic, Jennie Mae Stout; program, William Cleaver; customs and traditions, Max Jaehn; athletic, Harold Coar; civics, Eugene Hathaway; house, Andy Greenwood; building and grounds, Elmer Blume; scholarship, Howard Youse and organizations, Robert Meyers.

Officers of Council Publicly Installed

Although most of the work done by the Student Council is carried out quietly and without very much publicity, there were a few things that the council performed this year that need to be mentioned.

On October 5, the Student Council aided in the installation of the newly elected class officers. The council officers were first installed by Mr. Northrop, and then the council officers installed the class officers. Don Moorhead, president of the Student Council, presided.

The program committee, as is the custom, planned the assembly for Armistice Day. William Cleaver, chairman of the committee, presided at the assembly.

The next event sponsored by the council was Get-Acquainted Day, held February 17. The object of having this day is to give the students a chance to become better acquainted with one another. We are all sure that the day was a big success.

Courtesy Week Has Annual Observation

Courtesy Week! This is the biggest thing sponsored each year by the Student Council. On Monday morning, April 17, the opening day, a short assembly was held at which time the purpose and benefits were discussed by Bob Dodane and Betty Lawrence. Mr. Kimes also gave a short talk.

This year a new, special committee was formed to aid in putting over Courtesy Week. Members were called "The Polite Reminders". On Tuesday the Student Players put on a short play emphasizing courtesy.

"Courtesy Week" was not originated in order that the student body should have a week in which to be courteous, but that there should be a time set aside for commemorating the courteous spirit which is so prevalent during the entire year.

Memorial Assembly Held

The Memorial Day assembly was planned by Don Moorhead, president, and Bill Cleaver, chairman of the program committee. It was held May 29.

Assistance to Needy Is Given by P-T.A.

The North Side chapter of the Parent-Teachers' Association has been very busy the past year. They have helped with banquets, given dinners, and have also held several benefit parties. Some of the money which they received at these benefit parties was turned over to Miss Gross to help her in her welfare work here at North Side.

Following is the calendar of events for this year.

September 28—Freshman Mothers' Tea.

October 26—Sponsored "Back to School" night.

November 30—Afternoon program at which Miss Rothenberger told of her experiences while teaching in England.

December 15—Christmas party for teachers.

February 15—At this meeting the men were in charge. Judge Douglass was the speaker.

May 17—Senior mothers' party given by Junior mothers.

June 7—Election of officers.

Parents Go Through Program of Children

Pity the poor parents. That's what we all say when we see them wandering around so disconsolately trying to find Room 323 in the 230 corridor. Don't laugh, this really does happen to those (Oh! so wise parents) when they do come back to school.

"Back-to-School" night is sponsored once every year by the P-T. A. A regular everyday program, consisting of eight periods is held. The parents must follow the schedule of classes which their bright offsprings follow every day. After the eight periods are up and mama and papa have learned from each teacher how their darling child is faring in his school work, all the parents are asked to come to the auditorium for an assembly. Here tiny miniatures of our school paper, "The Northerner", are distributed. After a short program the parents disband until the next

Athletes Banqueted By Appreciative P-T. A.

The Parent-Teachers' Association also gave a banquet for the varsity basketball team right after their return from Indianapolis. The party, which was held at the Mandarin, was for the express purpose of praising our boys for the good work which they did at "state". Both Mark Bills, coach, and Walter Bonham, assistant coach, came in for their share of the glory.

Parents Are Active

Parents of North Side pupils are especially active in the fields of song and athletics. The Mothers' Chorus meets every Wednesday night under the direction of Mr. Sur. The Mothers' Gym class is under the direction of Miss Schwehn, and two classes for the fathers are held weekly by Mr. Ivy.

Rummage Sales Held To Raise Poor Funds

The Parent-Teachers' Association has contributed much to the welfare work in North Side. They have held benefit parties and even rummage sales in an effort to help those unable to come to school because of a lack of proper clothing or books. Some of the money which was made at these parties was turned over to Miss Gross, who knew of those that were most needy.

Principals and Wives Entertained by P-T.A.

Booster Members Are Kept Hustling

One of the most active organizations at North Side High School is the Booster Club. The members of this club decorate for all the games, and they also plan pep sessions and sell at the basketball, football, and track meets.

North Side's cheer leaders are backed by this organization. The varsity cheer leaders are Bill Sanner, Tom Getz, and Bob Dodane. Cheer leaders for the reserves are Joe Fitch and Jiggs Swanson.

On April 22 a dance was given by the Boosters in honor of the Lettermen and the cheer leaders. The honored guests were presented wall plaques.

The officers for the fall term were Tom Getz, president; Lois Gallmeier, vice-president; Betty Lawrence and Dorothy Janorschke, point recorders. During the spring term Bill Sanner, Florence Brooks, Jane Bartholomew, and Mary Lou Thomas served as officers.

Sanner Gets Sweater

Bill Sanner, president of the Booster and a varsity cheer leader, was presented with a sweater with a red "N" for service for three years as a cheer leader at North Side High School. Bill has also been active in Student Players' Club and Hi-Y Club. During this last semester he served as vice-president of the Phy-Chem Club.

Tigers, Archers Boost

After North Side won the Sectional Basketball Tournament, our team and cheer leaders were invited to go over to Central for a pep session given in honor of them. The Centralites put on such a clever stunt that they were asked to bring it to North Side for our own pep session that afternoon. Then, before North Side left for State, speakers and yell leaders were sent from both Central and South Side to wish the team good luck and to present them with certain trophies which are now in our trophy case.

Claris Planned Sessions

Claris Newport has been very active in the Booster Club this last year. She has planned all the pep sessions and prepared the characters for their parts before the presentations at the pep sessions. Miss Katherine Rothenberger is the adviser for the pep sessions while Miss Hilda Auman and Miss Oral Furst are advisers for the sale of candy, pop corn, and pop at the games.

Decorate Cars

The Booster Club had charge of all the decorating of the cars which took the North Side basketball team to the State Tournament March 17-18 at Indianapolis. The cars were decorated in red and white streamers and cards displaying our school and team.

Give $25 to Legend

In line with their general "boosting" propensities, the Booster Club gave $25 to the Legend, the most generous gift of school organizations to the yearbook.

Polar-Y Sponsors Charity Projects

To begin their work with a "bang", the girls of the Polar-Y had a hike. Contrary to the usual effects of a hike, the Girl Reserves were bound to continue their efforts.

First, they hemmed two dozen towels for the Needlework Guild. Then came Thanksgiving and Christmas, at which time they busied themselves filling and distributing baskets to the unfortunate.

As these girls are early risers, they had a breakfast hike to Martha Rahdert's home out in the country. Since these ambitious girls must have something to do besides holding discussions at their meetings, they filled a friendship portfolio to send to China.

As one of the outstanding organizations of the school, they gave a dance after the North Side Central game. After the sectional tourney the Inter-Club Council of the Girl Reserves sponsored a dance. Ruthella Furnas is president of the council.

All this successful work would not have been possible if it had not been for the capable leaders. For the first semester the officers were Helen Griffis, president; Lois Gallmeier, vice-president; June Gallmeyer, secretary; Dorothy Meyer, treasurer. These officers and the following committee chairman make up the cabinet: Publicity, Phyllis Goeriz; service, Ruthella Furnas; social, Dorothy Janorschke; membership, Verda Pfeiffer.

The cabinet for the second semester consisted of Ruthella Furnas, president; Phyllis Goeriz, vice-president; Martha Rahdert, secretary; Evelyn Mueller, treasurer; Alberta Elett, service; Martha Boone, publicity; Marjorie Swihart, membership; and Janet Welker, social chairman.

Portfolios Are Sent By Polar-Y to China

Under the direction of Miss Lorraine Foster, three portfolios were sent by the Polar-Y organization to China. These portfolios were made and sent as good-will messages from American Girl Reserves to the more unfortunate girls in that far-east country, China.

Alberta Elett and Evelyn Mueller are responsible for the making of the books. In them are found pages of the more famous views of the United States—the national parks, Niagara Falls, the World's Fair and others. These pages are accompanied by both English and Chinese inscriptions so that the recipients will be able to read them.

Also included in the pages are postcards of views of Fort Wayne and the surrounding vicinity, showing the types of homes and the types of industries the Polar-Y girls are accustomed to. Insides of homes and other material of that type fill other pages.

Many pictures have been assembled to show the various kinds of food we eat, the types of meals we have, and the kind of drinks that are made.

The girls have pictures of animals of all kinds, of trees, of flowers, and of birds.

Much effort was extended and much good derived from the collecting and making of these folios.

Honor National Secretary

These girls are great tea sippers. They participated in a tea given in honor of a national secretary at the Y. W. C. A. On May 22 they entertained their mothers at a Mother-and-Daughter Tea.

Art Club Presents Varied Program

The Art Club activities for the year 1932-33 opened with a Get-Acquainted party in October. This party, given especially for freshmen, was well attended.

One of the outstanding social events of the year was the club's Gypsy Bargain Dance held November 19. The theme was a gypsy camp in a wood, and the decorations were worked out in a very interesting manner. The hosts and hostesses and the orchestra were dressed in gypsy costumes.

The officers for the first semester were Hugh Fawley, president; Maurice Weimer, vice-president; Bonnie Cook, secretary; Velma Bendel, treasurer.

The committee chairmen for the fall semester were Evelyn Mueller, social; Phyllis Goeriz, publicity; Fannie Jane Hipkins, membership; and Norma Rae Woolever, program.

In December the club held a Christmas party for the members, with a Christmas program given by members of the club.

Hugh Fawley was re-elected president the second semester; Evelyn Mueller, vice-president; Jim Ellsworth, secretary; and Leo Still-pass, treasurer.

The committee chairmen for this semester were Fannie Jane Hipkins, membership; Phyllis Goeriz, publicity; Dorothy Gordon, program; and Charles Smith, social.

During the year pins were chosen, and in May pins were awarded to Hugh Fawley, Maurice Weimer, Velma Brendel, Evelyn Mueller, Phyllis Goeriz, and Fannie Jane Hipkins at the banquet.

Mr. Charles Wells, of the Fort Wayne Art School, gave a very interesting demonstration lecture on "Modelling", and Mr. J. W. Rennell, also of the Art School, talked on "Block Prints". Mr. Homer Davisson, well known Indiana artist, gave a demonstration of oil portrait painting, and for a model he used Margaret Johnston, a club member.

Members of the Art Club enjoyed a peppy banquet held in the latter part of May. It was entitled a "Razz" banquet, and vegetables held sway.

Mr. Northrop and Miss Gross acted as Salt and Pepper, and other flavors were added by the club advisers. The guests were attired in all sorts of crazy costumes, and everyone got a good laugh.

A June picnic closed the activities for the year.

Club Assists Art League Activities

The Art Club sponsored the opening program of the Citizens' Art League given in November, at the Little Art Theatre. The program was featured by a "Color Dance" with the following girls taking part: Norma Rae Woolever, Betty Barth, Margaret Johnston, Louise Meyer, Pauline Schecter, Rose Mary Stanger, Muriel Harper, Louise Deitschel, and Alice Rastetter.

Many students who were former members of the Art Club are now studying at the Fort Wayne Art School. Thomas Blakely represents the class of '30. Mable Brower and Velma Fitzgerald, '31, are also studying there. Recently Mable Brower was awarded a scholarship by the Pratt School of Art, New York City. Miss Brower has a choice of studying in either New York or Paris. The class of '32 is represented by Neil Altekruise, Anna Catherine Dell, and Evelyn Martin.

One very interesting meeting in the form of a musical program was held in April. A feature of the meeting was a talk by a former member, Anna Catherine Dell, Fostering Dramatics Is Purpose of S.P.C.

To create an interest in drama among the students at North Side is the chief purpose of the members of the Student Players' Club. They know what work is; and they know how to get it done, and quickly at that. Miss Marjorie Suter, instructor of dramatics, is adviser of the Student Players.

The meetings are held the first Thursday of every month. The officers for the first semester were Dick Stolper, president; Dick Hendricks, vice-president; Bob Reilly, secretary; and Phyllis Traxler, treasurer. Two initiations are held each year, one at the mid-semester, and the other in June.

To catalogue and take care of the scripts, two librarians were appointed; they are Mary Garard and Jeanette Fichman. The officers for the second semester are Ruth Hessert, Betty Lawrence, Dorothy Goebel, and Wilma Geisler, president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively.

Several successful plays were the accomplishments of these seventy-some members. "Bargains in Cathay" and "The Thing" were the first plays given in an assembly in October. Dick Stolper, member of the cast of "The Thing", represented North Side at Bloomington where the play was presented by Dick and one student each from Central and South Side for the Drama Teachers' Association.

Two one-act plays, "The Dust of the Road" and "Theories and Thumbs", were presented to the student body at Christmas time.

Student Players in Initiation Ceremonies

One of the most important events of the year of the Student Players is their initiation at mid-semester. The informal ceremony was held the afternoon of the first Monday of the spring semester when the three high schools met in the North Side auditorium. The initiates of each of the three chapters gave a skit or program.

To become a member the person must be in upper third of his class and must take dramatics for one semester. North Side's initiates were Evangeline Klingman, Florence Swanson, Joe Fitch, Herman Elett, Kathryn Geyer, Eleanor Kestner, Katherine McMullen, Darwin Allen, Chester Young, Marjorie Snyder, Bill Cleaver, Ellen Pressler, Martha Feldman, Eleanor Harrison, Mildred Oelschlager, Dorothea Koehlinger, Geraldine Harris, and Loexess Ehrman.

After the program a dance was held in the cafeteria for members and initiates only. Students of the three schools had a wonderful time together.

The formal initiation was held February 9, in the auditorium. This was for only the North Side chapter. Officers of the other chapters took part in the ritual. After the ceremony, all partook of a potluck supper, where food was food and plenty of it.

Present Playlet

Members of the S. P. C. were also responsible for the presentation of the playlet given at an assembly during Courtesy Week. Co-operating with them were the members of the dramatics classes.

North Side Band Wins First Place in District Contest ^{^ Charles Barnett}

The North Side band was considered the best in the marching, formation, and drilling contests which were held recently by the schools of Northern Indiana at Columbia City. Being judged first place, North Side received the silver loving cup. Mr. Everett E. Pennington has given his capable direction in training the band in their maneuvers. The band has been under the direction of Mr. William Sur, and has as its drum-major, Byron Sweeney. The band added much to the enthusiasm of the crowd, and the splendor of the uniforms added much brilliancy to the scenes at both the basketball and football games.

A Cappella Choir

The A Cappella Choir has furnished delightful programs for the Parent-Teachers' Christmas party, Crescent Avenue Church, the Little Art Theatre, and many other organizations. The choir is composed of approximately forty selected voices. When the choir sings, each member is attired in a choir robe, a fact which makes the presentation very effective.

Christmas Observed

By Special Music

The "Messiah" and the Christmas Cantata were two presentations of the Music Department which were presented at Christmas time. All Glee Club members and the A Cappella Choir took part in the Cantata, and the three high schools selected fifty each who took part in the "Messiah" at the Plymouth Congregational Church.

The Cantata named "The Child Jesus" has been successfully given for the past three years and will be continued yearly as a Christmas presentation.

Operetta Presented

By Music Groups

"Bon Voyage", a sparkling musical comedy, was presented March 31 by the Music Department. This was the first time an operetta has been given at North Side, and it proved to be one of the greatest successes of any organization in the school. Beautiful costumes, peppy songs, dancing, and pleasing voices were among the things that made the operetta well liked. Among the honored guests at the affair were Miss Helen Stillwell, writer of the plot, and Mr. E. G. Gatwood, composer. The operetta was under the direction of Mr. William Sur.

Concert Presented

An annual program given by the Music Department is the Spring Concert. This year it was presented on May 26. At this time the band, orchestra, A Cappella Choir, and the remainder of the Glee Clubs took part in the affair.

Hi-Y Club Creates Interest by Work

One of North Side's leading clubs is the Redskin Hi-Y Club. This club has about forty members and meets each week on Thursday evening. The purpose of the club is to create, maintain and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character.

The club offers, at its weekly meetings, an opportunity for the members to meet personally some of the most successful business men of the city and also some of the city and county officials, who come to address them. Chester K. Watson, state senator; Clarence McNabb, judge; Clarence Cornish, of the Municipal Airport; and the Rev. Mr. Vincent, were some of the men who appeared before the club. The boys also visited the weather bureau, located in the new post-office building.

The officers of the club during the fall semester were Herman Elett, president; Robert Johnston, vice-president; Elmer Lankford, secretary; and Maurice Rahe, treasurer.

All the Hi-Y and Girl Reserve Clubs of the city joined and held a dance at the Y. W. C. A. on October 19. The dance was well attended and a profit realized was used to carry on the Sunday Forums.

A father-and-son gathering was held in November. Mr. Abbott, school head, was the principal speaker, and Mr. Northrop was chairman. Entertainment was supplied by the various clubs.

Herman Elett, Elmer Lankford, Maurice Rahe, Joe Fitch, Bob Johnston, and Bob Ehrman attended the Indiana Older Boys Conference held at Newcastle, the last Sunday in November. While there, they heard very good talks and brought back ideas for the betterment of their own club.

The club put on a dance after the Bluffton game. This dance was well attended and increased the amount in the treasury enough to pay for various expenses which arose.

During the winter months the Hi-Y clubs again joined with the Girl Reserve clubs and held Sunday Forums. Many new friends were made at these gatherings and very many interesting discussions held. Herman Elett and Dick Hendricks each led one discussion.

At the beginning of the spring semester election of officer was held. Those elected to office were Ted Grisell, president; Dick Scott, vice-president; Paul Yergens, secretary; and Ralph Gresley, treasurer.

The boys and their mothers held a mother-and-son party early in the semester. Mr. Croninger, principal of Central High School, was chairman and Reverend Vincent was the speaker. Each boy presented his mother with a small bunch of flowers.

A party was held near the end of school, to which a boy in order to come had to bring his best girl. A lively crowd attended and everyone had a good time.

Mr. Pennington and Mr. Mosher are the faculty advisers of the club and have done a lot of work for it, and are largely responsible for its success.

The Hi-Y Mothers' party, which was March 3, is to be classed among the successes of the year. It was sponsored by the Hi-Y clubs of the city. Mr. Croninger, principal of Central, was the chairman. The program committee was composed of Paul Yergens, chairman, Don Christie, Central, and Wayne Brown, South Side. Among the features of the evening were a stunt by the South Side club, a Harmonica Band from Central, and the Presentation of Flowers by North Side. The speaker of the evening, the Rev. W. Nesbit Vincent, gave a very interesting talk with the title "Consecrated Brains" in which he brought out that we should not only consecrate our souls, but our brains to God.

Some of the other very interesting speeches this year were given by Judge Leonard, "The History of Tare"; Mr. Barnes, "Engraving"; Capt. Clarence Cornish on "Aviation"; Mr. Clyde Hendricks, "Archeology"; E. L. Gaines, "Automatic Telephone"; H. Michaud, "State Parks"; M. G. Kimes, "Stories of the Bible"; James Barnett, "Naval Experiences", and H. G. Willes, "Trees".

As a fitting climax to their activities at school the Hi-Y members went to Camp Potowatomi at Blackman's Lake. This was the beginning of their summer season. Everyone had a good time swimming and tramping through the woods.

Debaters Record Successful Season

North Side has had a very successful season of debating during the past year. The pre-season debates were on the subject, "Resolved, that the state of Indiana should adopt a free text book system." The affirmative team was composed of Jeanette Fichman, Robert Dodane, and David Peters. The negative squad consisted of Hugh Fawley, Maurice Weimer, and Ralph Campbell.

The subject discussed during the debate season was, "Resolved, that all hydro-electric power should be owned and operated by the government." The varsity affirmative team was composed of Howard Snyder, Robert Dodane, and Ted Grisell. The varsity negative team consisted of David Peters, James Kirtley, and Blaine Garard. Josephine Miller, Dorothy Goebel, and Ralph Campbell were those who made up the second affirmative team, while Dale Redding, Jack Moyer, Margaret Fuchshuber, and Hugh Fawley comprised the second negative team.

North Side placed second in the Northeastern Indiana Debate League. One of the high lights of the entire debate season was an all-day non-decision debate tournament held at Mishawaka in which all of the debaters participated. In decision debates, North Side won eleven, lost ten, and tied one this year. Our school participated in thirty-eight inter-school debates during the school year.

Public Speakers in Variety of Contests

Several outstanding debaters represented North Side in various contests throughout the school year. Ralph Campbell participated in the citizenship oratorical contest, Blaine Garard entered the state discussion contest, and Howard Snyder competed in the county oratorical contest.

Josephine Miller won the freshman-sophomore speech contest. There were three persons tied for second place. They are Margaret Johnston, Ruth Ervin, and Betty Morton. The contest was very bitterly fought from the very beginning.

About 750 students started out in this meet. Students were chosen from the various English classes in the first round. The second round was judged by members of the varsity debate team. The semi-final winners were decided by former debaters of Coach John E. Stoner. Eight contestants participated in the final round which was decided by several outstanding citizens of Fort Wayne.

In the extemporaneous contest which was held in the fall, Wilbur DeWeese was honored as the winner. Josephine Miller was awarded second place. The other speakers who participated in this event are Jeanette Fichman, Robert Dodane, and Blaine Garard. David Peters was chairman.

Debaters Awarded

Two Types of Pins

As a reward for their efforts, the debaters were presented with pins. However, this year Mr. Stoner made a distinction between the pins which each debater should receive. He decided that all students who had been varsity debaters and showed themselves worthy, should receive a silver key. Of course, only the more seasoned debaters were in line for this presentation.

It was decided that those students who had participated in fewer debates should receive a bronze pin. With this in mind Mr. Stoner presented the following with silver keys: Wilbur DeWeese, Howard Snyder, Robert Dodane, Ted Grisell, David Peters, Blaine Garard, James Kirtley, and Ralph Campbell. The following were awarded bronze pins: Dorothy Goebel, Maurice Weimer, Dale Redding, Hugh Fawley, Jeanette Fichman, Margaret Ellen Fuchshuber, Jack Moyer, and Josephine Miller.

Garard Wins Extemp

Blaine Garard won the second semi-annual extemporaneous speaking contest of this school year by eliminating three strong opponents on May 24 in the auditorium. The speech that enabled Blaine to have his name engraved on the Koerber loving cup was delivered on "Hitler, the Demagogue", and he made a fine rebuttal speech discussing "War Debts."

Second place was awarded to Ted Grisell, who spoke on "Recognition of Russia". The other contestants and the subjects that they discussed were Josephine Miller, "Bank Reform"; and Robert Dodane, "War Debts."

By virtue of his victory Blaine Garard competed with Wilbur DeWeese in the city-wide extemp contest.

Amateur Gardeners Go Back to Nature

An extensive program has been carried on this year by members of the Clifford B. Risk Garden Club. This active group, founded in 1931 by Clifford B. Risk, deceased, tends to interest students in gardening, home beautification, and appreciation of nature. Approximately thirty active members comprise this group. Miss Vesta Thompson, Miss Marie Miller, and Miss Julia Alexander act as faculty advisers.

Officers elected to serve the first semester were Margaret Bolman, president; Mary Schroff, vice-president; and Ellen Pressler, secretary-treasurer. Those chosen for the second term were Margaret Bolman, president; Ruth Bertram, vice-president; and Mary Schroff, secretary-treasurer. Bernice Vachon served as chairman of the social committee.

A hike to Lakeside Park and a weiner bake occupied the October meeting. During the month of November preparations were made for the Garden Club stunt in the G. A. A. Vod-Vil. At the December meeting Miss Julia Alexander spoke to the group, and on January 11, Mr. Adolph Jaenicke, superintendent of parks in Fort Wayne, gave an illustrated lecture.

At the February meeting Miss Marie Miller was the speaker. Her subject was, "House Planning and Planting Arrangement". A business meeting only occupied the month of March, and on April 19, the group went through the Japanese Gardens.

On May 10 they were escorted through Meade's garden, a particularly lovely spot. The final meeting of the year, that of June 7, was in the form of a picnic.

Garden Club Winds Up Year With Big Picnic

ploring trips, and potlucks; but, at the same time, much knowledge is imparted to the club members by the learned advisers of the club.

Perhaps the best time the girls had this year was at the last meeting, which was in the form of a potluck on the river banks. Yes, even with that old steam shovel, they still had a good time! Preceding the potluck the girls went through Meade's garden down on State Street, and by the time it was time to eat, they certainly were hungry. To be exact, Ora Ulrey trustingly confided to the writer that she went without breakfast and luncheon, so that she might live up to her reputation as being the biggest eater the club boasts!

When the girls got back to the old stamping grounds after tramping all up and down State Street, they rushed to and fro, hither and thither, and what-else-have-you, in a mad effort to get the eats ready in a hurry. And what eats those were! Sandwiches! Potato salad! Fruit salad! Olives! Bannanners! Coca-Cola! Pertater chips! Baked beans! More sandwiches!

To top off the afternoon, some-one fell down the river bank, and gosh, did she get muddy! After wishing the senior members of the club a hearty farewell (we heard that somewhere), the gathering broke up.

Trips Are Feature of Gardener Club Work

Members of the Garden Club enjoyed a very informative and interesting trip through Meade's garden on June 7. After the trip they held a picnic along the river bank.

The students, accompanied by the club advisers, were conducted through the beautiful gardens on State Street after the close of school. The different types of flowers were identified and pointed out. Irises, tulips, and the usual spring and early summer flowers were very much in evidence.

Among the other activities of the Garden Club this year was the preparation of an exhibit for the all-city exhibit at Central. Their entry consisted of a terrarium or "dish garden", bouquets from members' gardens, and a miniature flower and rock garden.

The girls met and made plans for these gardens, visited the woods for material and then spent much time in the construction of them.

Since the North Side Garden Club is the only one in the city high schools, their exhibit was both novel and unique. It received much favorable comment.

As a direct result, many of the girls made "dish gardens" for themselves and they enjoyed the work immensely.

"Strongheart" Is Drama by Seniors

An outstanding event of every school year is the annual senior play. This year's senior play was presented on May 19 and 20 at three performances. There was an afternoon matinee for students and two evening performances for the public.

The play selected for this year was "Strongheart," an amusing and interesting four-act play written by William C. DeMille.

Dick Stolper played the leading male role of "Strongheart." Betty Lawrence had the leading feminine role. Evangeline Klingman, Margaret Grubb, Dorothy Goebel, Velma Brendel, and Betty Dye took the remaining feminine roles.

The play centered around "Strongheart," an Indian youth who achieved fame at college. The first scene was two days before a big football game when a tea was given by the girls for the varsity team. The second scene was laid in the team's locker room, and the final act took place at a formal dance.

Much credit and appreciation should also be given to those who helped behind the scenes. Elmer Blume was business manager and was ably assisted by Kenneth Foellinger, ticket chairman; Wilma Geisler, publicity manager; and Maurice Wiemer, stage manager.

Six Prizes Awarded

For Artistic Posters

Now that the senior play is over, time will be flying away faster than ever, but we can not help but remember some things which really made it what it was.

First there were those lovely posters for which prizes were given. The first six were given thirty-five cent tickets and those receiving honorable mention received a student performance ticket. The first six were Bill Ballou, Charlotte Packer, Norman Seaman, Virginia Cothrell, Rosamond Gray, and Phyllis Janorschke. Those receiving honorable mention were Florena McFeeley, William Poffenberger, Bob Robinson, Velma Brendel, Roqua Wibel, Leo Stillpass, Wilson White and Helen Wilson.

The class advisers, Miss Judith Bowen and Robert Sinks, deserved all the credit we can give for the work they did. Credit also goes to the business and publicity committees.

But oh, the play itself. The seniors will never forget it. We won't say who did the best because we can not say. We wonder if "Strongheart" still has a strong heart or whether it's become weak.

And then someone asked if Siefried is still being bought off with time. How about it, Dick? There certainly were a lot of unusual things in the play, for instance, those formals and tuxs. Some of the boys frankly admitted it was the first time they ever tried getting into one.

The play was warmly received by the audience and a good profit was realized by the senior class.

Miss Suter Brings Out Acting Talent

There is a small, but mighty person who spends her time in the three high schools, but, nevertheless, her force is felt among many of the students in each one. Miss Marjorie Suter is this magnetic person. She is dramatics instructor and directs all the plays given in the high schools.

Classes are held under her direction the fourth, fifth, and sixth periods on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Besides the many plays presented during the school year, her chief work is the senior plays. Practicing is done after school and evenings, and everything she has goes into her work.

Miss Suter came to Fort Wayne several years ago and began teaching at Central. When North Side was built, she was given her present position. She loves her work, and very capably accomplishes it.

Journalists Win in Many Contests

Many students of North Side have won journalistic honors in the past year. From the fact that all these pupils are active in publications work, either on the Northerner or Legend, it is evident that work on these publications is a great aid to students.

Early in the year Walter Klinger and Margaret Bolman were honored by having articles written by them published by the School

Press Review, official publication of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association with headquarters at Columbia University. Walter's article concerned "Business Management of School Papers" and Margaret's work was about the N. S. P. A. convention held in Cincinnati.

Dick Hendricks was signally honored by being awarded first place in a national sports writing

Published weekly by a staff of approximately eighty students, "The Northerner" is one of the foremost school publications in the nation. For several years it has received first place rating from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, and for the last two years has been one of the few school newspapers in the country to be awarded Medalist rating. It has also been awarded All-American rating by the National Scholastic Press Association.

Miss Rowena Harvey is the faculty adviser. Three students headed the staff as publisher this year. The school year was divided into three periods. Don Moorhead was publisher the first period, and Margaret Bolman and Ruth Field held this position the latter parts of the school year. Walter Klinger has been business manager under all three publishers.

A silver cup was offered this year as a prize to the winner of a circulation contest between "The Northerner" and "The South Side Times." This year the cup was won by South Side.

contest conducted by Quill and Scroll. This is a very great honor, considering the fact that hundreds of pupils all over the country participated.

In the same contest Eulalie Bolman and Walter Klinger received honorable mention, Eulalie in the headline writing division, and Walter in the advertisement writing contest. Eulalie also received honorable mention in a similar contest held previously.

Jeanette Fichman, a prominent senior, submitted the tenth paper in the U. S. A. in a recent Quill and Scroll Current Events contest.

Rita Bendel received honorable mention in a contest on newspaper terms conducted by Quill and Scroll.

Don Brudi was honored by receiving national recognition in a Quill and Scroll vocabulary contest.

Club Publishes "Ripples"

Ripples, publication of the Quill Club, came out on June 1 this year. This magazine, founded in 1927, has been issued six times in the past five years. In 1931, because of the supply of material, two issues were put out.

The founders of the Quill Club, who in 1927-28 made plans for the magazine and wrote a great deal, were Jean Bouillet, Phillip Bowen, Margaret Umbaugh, Margaret Smenner, Margaret Berghoff, and Melvin Koenig. Because of the cost of publishing it, it was impossible to put out the magazine, but much credit should be given these people who provided the necessary impetus.

The following year Jean Bouillet and Phillip Bowen continued their work, and with the help of others and Mr. Charles Dickinson, adviser, published the first issue of Ripples. The cover was made by Lewis Kenyon and has received much favorable comment.

In 1930, 1931, and 1932 the magazine was again published, but in different colors each time. However, the cover has remained unchanged all these years, and the same design was again used this year.

"Ripples" this year was orange and black and contained essays, stories, poems, and material submitted from the English classes. "Simply Yell" by Mildred Price, "Doodlesock" by Louise Harshbarger, "Fulfillment" by Kermit Livingston, and "Rooters' Madness" by Barbara Warner were features of the issue.

Essays of Elmer Blume, Max Jaehn, Mary Lou Rose, Sidney Schecter, Richard Stolper, Mary Spalding, and Kermit Livingston were especially good. Other material appearing was the work of Mildred Price, Maxine Ray, Margaret Bolman, William Benninghoff, Maynard Cope, Jane Bartholomew, Gordon Graef, and many students from the English classes.

The magazine was assembled by Mr. Dickinson, and was published under the direction of Miss Rowena Harvey. It was distributed through the medium of the English classes principally.

Approximately 525 copies were disposed of, and the magazine proved very popular.

Club Unites Pupils Desiring To Write

The Quill Club, an organization which exists only at North Side, is an honorary group composed of students who excel in literary work. The membership is comprised of a few selected pupils who like to write and who are recommended by their English instructors.

The absence of officers, regular meetings, and pins are the features which make this group outstanding. Mr. Charles Dickinson is the adviser of the club.

The main object of the club is to publish a magazine issued yearly called "Ripples". This magazine is put out in the spring at a very nominal cost and contains short stories, essays, poems, and contributions from the English classes.

The members of the group themselves determine when they are to meet, a system which has proved very satisfactory. The only reward of the students is that of seeing their work in print.

The members of the Quill Club this past year are Mary Lou Rose, Margaret Bolman, Evelyn Bower, Louise Harshbarger, Kermit Livingston, Jane Bartholomew, Ruth Hessert, Richard Stolper, Mildred Price, Maxine Ray, William Benninghoff, and Barbara Warner.

Writers' Club Member

Is High in Tests

A series of English college placement tests has been given to North Side seniors this year. The first, a placement test from Purdue University, was given on May 2, and the highest grade was made by Margaret Bolman, a student of Mr. Dickinson. There were 247 points on the test, and Margaret's score was 234. Many students placed above 169, which is the average mark for high school students.

The Iowa College placement test was next given to Mr. Dickinson's students only. Again Margaret Bolman scored the highest grade, hers being 187 out of a possible 215. This test was especially difficult, for two points were deducted for every question missed.

Youse President Of Honor Society

On May 11, 1932, the National Honor Society elected as its officers for the year the following: President, Howard Youse; vice-president, Herman Elett; secretary, Ruth Hessert; treasurer, Miss Venette Sites.

Those elected to the society last year and who still remained in school were Howard Youse, Ruth Hessert, Herman Elett, Don Moorhead, Margaret Bolman, Leo Stewart, William Schafenacker, Ruth Evans, Max Jaehn, Lona Fredricks, and Mildred Price.

During the summer these members with Miss Gross, Miss Sites, and Mr. Dickinson averaged the home room grades in order to determine which one should receive the honor plaques.

Home Room 222, juniors, received the large plaque for having the highest average in the school; Room 333 received the small sophomore plaque; 112 received the freshman plaque; and Room 226 received the plaque won by the graduating senior home room.

These plaques were presented during an assembly on October 5. Howard Youse, president, was in charge of the presentation.

Again the second semester the most scholarly home rooms were presented the plaques, after the grades had been averaged by the society members, Mr. Dickinson, Miss Sites, and Miss Gross. This time the senior home room 333 received the large plaque; but, as it was comprised of those graduating in February, the plaque was given to Room 222, which was second highest. The other rooms receiving plaques were 321, junior; 232, sophomore; and 331, freshman.

Each year the members of the society give short talks on scholarship to the freshman home rooms and this was again done both in the fall and in the spring.

Banquet Held

Honoring the new members of the National Honor Society a banquet was held at the Plymouth Congregational Church, Thursday evening, May 11.

Mr. Elvin Eyster, head of the commerce department at North Side, was toastmaster.

Professor Paul Bente, head of the English department at Concordia College, was the main speaker. He talked on "Torch Bearing."

Honor guests at the banquet included Mrs. M. H. Northrop, Mrs. Paul Bente, Mrs. Merle Abbett, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider.

Honor Society Pins Given at Assembly

With an undefinable feeling, the newly elected members to the National Honor Society received their membership cards and pins, Friday morning, May 5.

To be elected to the National Honor Society one must have an average of eighty percent or more and must be active in extra curricular activities. They are selected by a faculty committee. The four essential qualities of the members are scholarship, character, leadership, and service. Five percent of the 11A's, ten percent of the 12A's, and fifteen percent of the 12A's may be elected.

Merle J. Abbett congratulated the members on the honor they had received, and then Dr. Krauss gave the main address.

Rifle Shots Have Chance at Awards

The Rifle Club, organized for the first time this year at North Side, has a large membership. The members have participated in many matches, and although defeated, always made a good showing.

The advisers, Miss Judith Bowen, Mr. Allan Cleaver, Mr. Eldon Schellschmidt, and Mr. Hyrtle Ivy, have worked hard to make the organization a success. Practices were held on Monday and Wednesday nights after school. One week the club was extremely fortunate in having Lieutenant Paul C. Schauer, member of the Officers' Reserves, as instructor.

The girls have shown as much interest in shooting as the boys and comprise a large part of the membership.

The local club is a unit of the Junior Division of the National Rifle Association of America, and recently obtained its charter. Members are eligible to receive the different awards offered by the national association.

These awards, numbering fifteen, are pro - marksman, marksman, marksman first class, sharpshooter, nine "possible 500" bars, expert rifleman, and distinguished rifleman.

Donald Leininger, a senior, is the only member of the Rifle Club thus far to shoot 100. He has accomplished this several times, but others have approached the 100 mark. This is a perfect score and is achieved by but a few.

Thus far the boys have shot a good deal better than the girls, but several girls have made the squad. The regular squad is composed of Don Leininger, William Cleaver, Paul Gillespie, Vernon Miller, Cliff Sefton, Virginia Bell, Charlotte Packer, and Mildred Steward.

Experience Gained In Year's Matches

North Side's sharpshooters, although they have lost most of their matches this season, have obtained

First row: M. J. Hart, A. Rastetter, M. Steward, vice-president; B. Barth, secretary; R. Bixby, treasurer; D. Leininger, executive officer; B. Cleaver, president; P. Gillespie, V. Polk, H. Goble.

Second row: C. Packer, M. Johnston, D. Zehner, M. Schrader, V. Bell, B. R. Howey, L. Smith, L. Stephans, R. Stanger, B. Stewart, Miss Bowen, adviser.

Third row: L. Rummell, D. Porter, M. Orr, H. Miller, R. Leininger, W. Benninghoff, J. Voirol, C. Schroeder, C. Sefton, W. Hughes, Mr. Cleaver.

much experience and practice that will help next year.

The team engaged in but a few real matches this year, the majority being only practice meets.

In the county tourney, which South Side won with a total of 959, North Side placed fourth with 908 points, nosing out Central.

On May 10, North Side engaged the Central rifle team and emerged triumphant by a score of 485 to 467. The Redskins showed a great deal of improvement over their former performances. In this meet the North Side boys shot better than the Central boys, but their girls had the drop on the North Side team.

In this match Don Leininger, North Side, shot 100, a perfect score, again. He has achieved this score several times.

Most of the members of the squad will return next year and a good team is hoped for by the advisers of the club.

Sportsmen's Code

Followed by Club

1. I will never allow the muzzle of my gun to point at anything which I do not intend to shoot.

2. I will never load my gun when the muzzle is pointed at any part of my body or at any person, nor stand in front of anybody who is loading a gun.

3. I will never cock my gun and pull the trigger for fun.

4. I will never shoot directly at a flat hard surface, a bottle or similar object, as the bullet is certain to ricochet (glance) from it.

5. I will never handle a gun without first opening the breech to be sure the gun is empty and looking through the bore to see that it is clean.

6. I will never carry my gun loaded except when hunting and will then be sure that it is locked in the "safe" position.

7. I will never shoot at a song-bird or harmless animal for sport and will always be sure that no wounded game is left to suffer.

8. I will remember that a .22 calibre bullet will travel three quarters of a mile, or through nine inches of ordinary board, and will ricochet a long way across water.

9. I will always put my gun muzzle first through a fence and will climb over between the next two fence posts.

10. I will always give my gun a thorough cleaning as soon as I am through firing.

Elect Officers

When the Rifle Club organized this year, officers were elected. Bill Cleaver was chosen to be chief shooter, Mildred Steward was selected vice-president, Betty Barth, secretary, Ray Bixby, treasurer, and Don Leininger, executive officer.

These officers are prominent students and, with the exception of Don Leininger, will be back next year.

First row: L. Stewart, V. Byrer, W. Schafenacker, V. Ayers, R. Irons, R. Hire, J. Reiber, J. BenDure, E. Blume, S. Schecter, T. Haught, A. Greenwood.

Second row: J. Feichter, B. Crance, W. Rabus, K. Nelson, N. Sievers, L. Pletcher, L. Monnot, W. Comment, W. Kroener, N. Rolf, Miss Storr.

Third row: C. Puff, R. Bozer, G. Beams, G. Hoffman, T. VaChon, D. Kaade, D. Leininger, H. Coar, Q. Marshall.

Lettermen's Club Membership Grows

Probably the most sought after club and the hardest club in which to gain admittance is the Lettermen's Club at North Side. Being just open to boys who have earned the right to get initiated by winning an "N" in one or more sports, the club might be considered as being exclusive.

The Redskin Lettermen's group is fully organized, having a constitution whose governing is carried out by the group of officers and the two faculty advisers, who are chosen annually by the entire group.

In February, 1930, the Lettermen's group came into existence at North Side. At that time it was a small body, but since that time it has grown until today the number of Lettermen in school is forty-one. Bill Borgmann was chosen president of that group and he was ably assisted by Harry Leeper, Harry Stewart, and Roland Meeker.

The present group of officers consists of Vernon Ayers, president; Jack Ben Dure, vice-president; Elmer Blume, secretary-treasurer; and Robert Hire, sergeant-at-arms. Miss Julia Storr and Mr.

Allan Cleaver have been the advisers of the club since its beginning.

Since November the club has been meeting at 7:30 p.m. the first Thursday of every month. Previous to November the group had met the first Tuesday in the month. The meetings were of a fellowship nature. Sometimes refreshments were served to the "hungry hordes"

A source of much amusement to the previous duly initiated members of the club was the rites held whenever a group of boys who had been rewarded for their efforts on the hardwood, gridiron or cinder path by presentation of "N's", were then initiated into the club. Many amusing and unforgettable memories resulted at these meetings.

Athletic Banquet Held December 21

Every year the Lettermen get together for their annual banquet and this year the affair was again very successful. It was held on December 21, 1932, in the school cafeteria and was attended by many alumni members since at this time they were home from colleges for their Christmas vacations. Max Jaehn, the toastmaster, called on Charles Pierce, Paul Faylor, Everett Scott, Bill Barley, and Harry Leeper for impromptu talks. The main speaker of the evening was Merle Abbott, city school superintendent, who was introduced by M. H. Northrop. Coach Mark Bills also spoke. Later in the evening motion pictures of North Side activities were shown and enjoyed by the group.

On January 28, 1933, the club "threw" a dance after the North Side-Central basketball game. Of course, it was naturally a gay affair and celebration was the order of the day, since the Redskins had scalped the Tigers.

April 22, the night of the Booster Club dance, was a memorable night in the hearts of the Lettermen, because they were invited as guests of the Boosters.

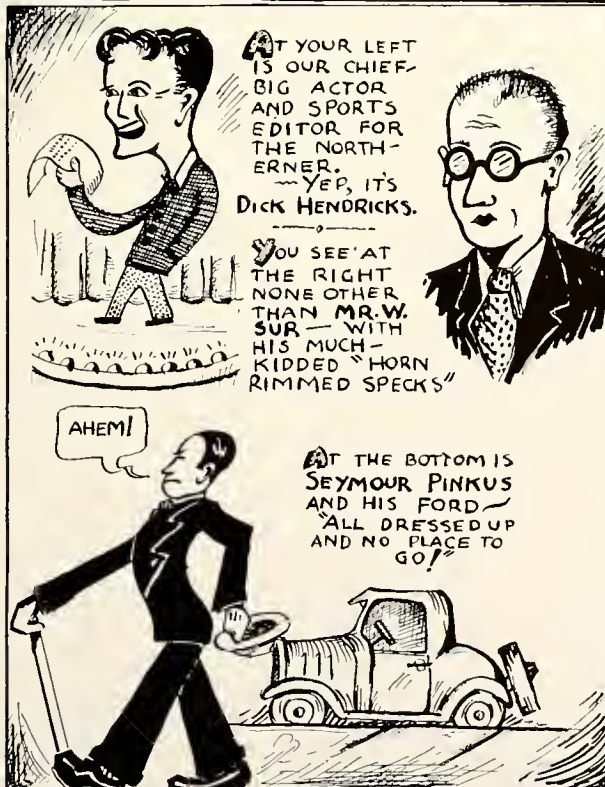

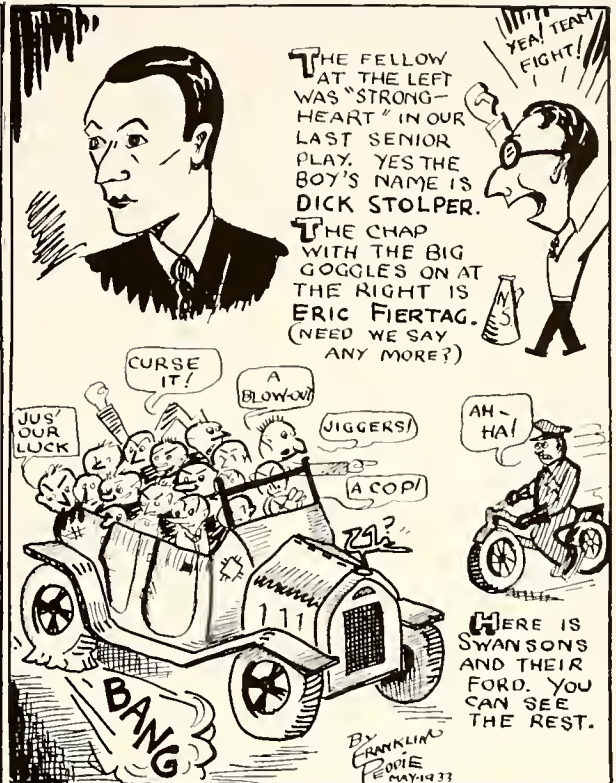

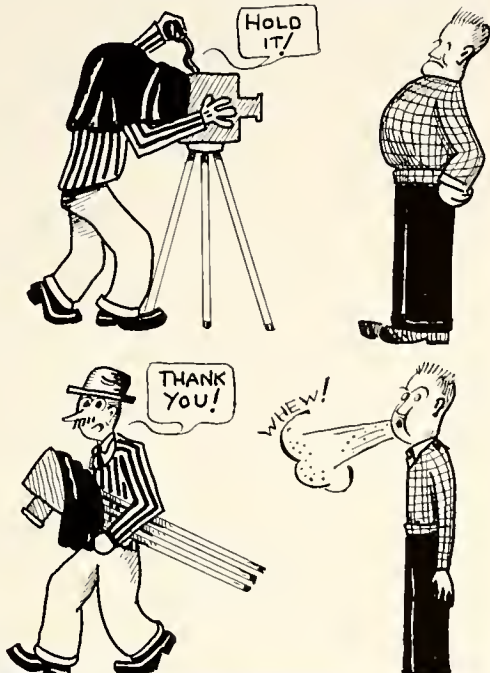

Above is pictured the King Trophy which is awarded annually to the basketball player showing the most ability and finest attitude.

Red and Black Form Color Scheme For Pale Faces

A decided brunette who possesses a pleasing personality! Her black hair is in little ringlets while her eyes are blue-black and her figure is "doogy". She belongs to the sophomore A class and runs around with Lou Countryman, Lois Miller, etc. Basketball seems to be one of her hobbies while Jack Bailhe and Jim Menefee are the others.

Mary Gerhardt seems to rate in the heart affairs of this junior lad! Being rather tall with dark red hair and a very pink complexion, he really is one swell kid. Maury Smith and Hugh Fawley are his close acquaintances.

Who's this sophomore girl who just acquired her numerals? She's very tall, has curly, blond hair, and dresses attractively. Her little heart goes pitty-pat every time Leo comes around, but what about Bob Meyers? She goes with Jo Miller, Alice Wildermuth, and that gang!

How all the girls like this sophomore! He's just the best-hearted pal and he loves to take them home in his car every night after school. His blond, curly hair is cut very short and he's usually seen wearing a white sweater.

The Last Week

North Side, June 2, 1933. We're curious about: Don Brudi's pal, Ed; Max Jaehn's date for the commencement dance; what we're gonna wear to ditto; what kind of posies all the gals will be sporting; the four South Siders who invaded the Northerner office last week. (P. S.: They were sorta like flies around sugar, we think.—Oh, these semi-blonds and brunettes!); Art Scott's sudden change from the bashful-little-boy type of chee-ild; where some of these so-called columnists get all their dirt; why we write tripe like this.

The time that a friend in need is a friend indeed is when some sappy columnist writes about you in the Northerner and the other person concerned gets mad. Oh well, columnists must be humored.

Guess we'll go North and give our regards to the Eskimos—it'd be so nice and cool up there. You see, when it's warm here it's really warm, for a columnist gets the warmest end of the whole business. When things get too cool for the rest of the staff they start razzing us poor little columnists just to get warmed up.—Watta life!

And speaking of warm and cool—reminds us that some people we know seem to find the atmosphere much warmer in the South. Our only remark is that one can always find a way to get warm, but it's a little harder to get cool when it's too hot, y'know!

Not changing the subject, but—(our mind works very spasmodically, you see!) after seeing some of The Times' columns we're beginning to believe that we Northerners are pikers. Nice goin', Phil, but you're too modest!—Gentlemen prefer blonds, you know! (Can't say we blame them though.)

Union of Prominent Senior Is Marked By Local Color

At the recent wedding of Maxine Ray and Raymond Grish the crowd was so absorbed in the beauty of the bride that the wedding ceremony was nearly forgotten.

The bride had on a knee length white dress with large red polka dots. We later learned that she had spilled the ink from addressing wedding invitations upon it. Her veil has been in the family for years. (It was her great grandmother's curtain.) The sky-blue pink of the veil showed her peroxide hair off to perfection. She had the latest shade of 5 and 10 cent store rouge on.

Her runover shoes were imported from Podunk. Because of the depression the bride wore no hose. Since her husband intends to be a "hired hand" on a farm he wore the latest style of overalls which were the envy of all men present. The couple are to live at the bride's mother's until they can afford to pay rent or get kicked out.

H. Ivy, Instructor of Swimming, Given Gorgeous Pair of Orange Lounging Pajamas

The annual horse race, held April 1/2, 1933, in the North Side gymnasium, for the benefit of overgrown horses was won by H. Ivy, teacher of swimming, here at North Side.

Four local teachers took part in the exciting event. They were Mr. Dickinson, teacher of English; Mr. Sur, teacher of music; Miss DeVilbiss, teacher of domestic science, and Mr. Ivy, teacher of swimming.

Mr. Ivy came in one lap ahead of Mr. Sur. Mr. Ivy and his horse Backstroke, burned up the floor. He went around the track so fast it was almost impossible to see him.

Mr. Sur and his horse B-Flat came through the tape five seconds after Backstroke and his jockey.

Miss DeVilbiss and her horse Blanket Stitch came in third. Blanket Stitch was the best horse but because of the poor jockey he came in third.

Mr. Dickinson and his horse Pronoun also ran. They had no chance as Pronoun had not eaten for fifteen days. He was trying to imitate Mahatma Gandhi.

Total gate receipts amounted to $1 in script. This was used to buy feed for the horses.

(With apologies to Ted Cook)

Dick Scott is the new president of the National Honor Society and we're sure he'll make a good one. But to get away from scholastic doodads, we have recently raked in a new crop of the spiciest scandal ever. Mary Lou Thomas is still gabbin' around about the gorgeous boy she saw in Washington and is kicking herself for not getting acquainted after searching all the corridors of the hotel looking for him. Bob Johnston is taking voice lessons from Camille Robinette in hopes to become a future John McCormack.

Juney Gallmeyer can give a perfect imitation of Stan Laurel: I wonder how Wayne Decker is taking out now—It's rumored around that he's been bleaching his hair ever since he was in grade school and is never without his powder puff, deah me—There's the cutest little girl in a green suit down in 110 every Friday evening after school folding papers; you should see her.

People are always remarking how busy Maggie Bolman always is—I guess "there's no rest for the wicked". Tressa Sefton is listed among the missing (in the upper story).

You should see Evans Houghton when he's bawling Barbara W. out. He reminds me of an old school professor. Evans is really very clever—he addressed a letter to The Howe School for Brats.

And the number of girls who have mentioned to me that they thought Paul Yergens was awful nice is innumerable. Ach—Ay tank Ay go bats, for tanking of somting for which to write—oh by the way, which reminds me of something—Louis Pletcher is being written up quite a bit in the South Side Times, having called Jean Kranz up every night for two weeks straight without missing.

Mainly About People

It may interest the readers of this article to know that Mr. Robert Hire is suffering with "Shrinkitis". Even his best friends can't recognize him, and before long he will have the honor of being the shortest boy in North Side High School.

Many of you that know Claris Newport and are wondering what has caused such a happy feeling to predominate in her being, may be gratified to know that she is suffering with heart trouble! It's a bad case, and there isn't a doctor in the country that can do anything about it.

Private Opinions Publicly Expressed

Tressa Sefton said she knows she's crazy, but she wants to be crazy cause she likes boys and boys like crazy girls. So she wants to be crazy!

June Huntine continues saying that she doesn't see how doughnuts grow on "pon-trees".

Richard Deahl says, "What this school needs is a good, great big vacation." (Editor's note: We all agree!)

Eric Feiertag won a tin cup, donated by our track star, Fred Tone, for breaking the world's 100-yard dash record. Eric ran the hundred in the amazing time of 9 seconds flat. It clipped two seconds off the world time, which is held by Metcalf from Marquette. Eric said in an interview yesterday, "I intend to start in serious training. I intend to ride Broker Tip in the next Kentucky Derby."

Goofus: "I placed a $5 bill in this dictionary and now I can't find it."

Rufus: "Did you look among the V's?"

Oh Yeah!

Miss Georgia LeMay, the owner of the Old Ladies' Home, was united in marriage to Mr. Melvin Horn, a member of the unemployed, in a ceremony performed yesterday at four minutes and fifty nine seconds after thirteen o'clock in the furnace room of the groom's parents. The Rev. Clarence Puff officiated at the triple ring ceremony. Mr. Lester Gaylord, noted organist of Podunk, played the washboard during the entire ceremony. The bride was attended by the hundred of attendants.

The bride was attired in a dirty potato sack trimmed in bright red calico and pebbles. She wore a long veil of green cheesecloth. Her footwear was a couple of horse-shoes, and she carried a bouquet of dandelions, and more dandelions. The groom was attired in a pair of second-hand beach pajamas, which were only slightly worn.

The couple will reside in the garage of the bride's parents, after a short shopping trip through the dime store.

Miss Alice Ecenbarger and her fiancé, Mr. Bread Yeast, entertained yesterday at her shack on Dirt Street. The eats which consisted of water and toothpicks were served on the washing machine. A terrible time was had by all. If you don't believe it, ask Ora Ulrey, who was taken home in an ambulance.

Miss Harvey's fourth period class has decided to have a banquet in her honor. Every body is invited and are allowed to eat all they can eat, except Miss Harvey. She's on a 21-year diet. The banquet was given on account of Miss Harvey's light assignments.

Can you imagine: A boy with Bob Hire's height; Bill Sander's legs; Red Beulow's voice; Red Silloway's hair; Les Monnet's clothes; Les Gaylord's smartness; Mr. Eyster's build, and Andy Greenwood's feet.

Please Go Home

Many of the teachers at North Side have been using the expression, "Please go home", quite regularly during the past few weeks.

Pupils seem to be forming that bad habit of simply insisting on sessions to be held after 3:10 p. m. The majority of the students are so fond of their alma mater that they would be quite willing to spend all their time at school.

The poor teachers are simply worn out and are positively unable to accommodate all the eager students demanding classes which will last until 5:30 or 6 o'clock. It is up to the students to give the teachers a break, so please go home.

Teacher Uses Countries Finest Baking Ingredients; Gives Marvel To Noted Sculptress.

A new marvel was recently seen in the North Side metal shop when Miss H. Schwehn, gym teacher, displayed a barrel cake which she baked and which she will exhibit in the 1950 World's Fair, held in the Congo River.

The cake was baked in a barrel and only the choicest ingredients which the country affords were used.

Miss Schwehn submitted the following recipe for her cake:

To fifty pounds of sand add ten jars of sour pickles which are tightly sealed. Moisten ten pounds of carpet tacks with a little mud and stir into the batter. Add twenty quarts of vinegar to thicken the mixture. After this is done, cook the batter for five days then remove from the furnace and add two dozen chimneys and a bucket of coal. Keep the cake in an ice box for ten months. After this moisten in a bucket of cold water and season with three bottles of sweet essence of turpentine.

The cake when removed from the barrel stood six feet high and was five feet wide. Miss Alexander, noted sculptress, shaped the cake into a figure of a man and she feels sure that portions of the cake will find their way into the homes of many persons in the years to come.

Miss Schwehn's cake resisted all efforts of the army and navy to penetrate its surface when they tested the strength of it in target practice off the St. Joe shores.

Will swap one good Latin pony for a second-hand Economics collateral notebook. Please see Howard Youse in room 222.

Have one good red wig to swap for a blond one. See Ruthella Furnas.

Did you hear that Verda Pfeiffer seemed to enjoy writing backword notes—we mean—notes backward in baby language to Elmer (Roscoe) Lankford. It seems to be some kind of epidemic that hits the North Side Romeos and Juliets.

Oh I Heard

Can you imagine anyone running from a mosquito? A certain girl saw one coming after her, and she took a grand dive for the door, and then waited until we laid the poor thing among the sweet peas. Speaking of insects, we wonder why Bob Irons had that wasp or bee (which was it?) tied on a string. He reminds us of these mischevious boys one reads of in story books.

And Tommy Haught was overheard telling Victor Close that girls liked him when he was on the basketball floor, but they didn't like him off it. Too bad, Tommy, but might there be a reason?

Why is it that Verda Pfeiffer spends several weeks in Portland? You really should look into that, Mr. Lankford. And speaking of sweet romances—we heard that Edna Claypool got rather angry at her boy friend last week. And we guess he told her.

Maybe you don't know it but Wayne Koontz has taken up portrait painting (on other people's notebooks). You've never really seen any art just like his.

Can you imagine Miss Gross and Mr. Northrop quarreling over who is the more important. They did at the Art Club banquet. We were really shocked. No less!

What's happened to all those beautiful vari-colored limousines we have had around school. The beauty of North Side is ruined. We love our building, let us help to bring back beauty to our portals.

Lost—A cow by an old woman with brass knobs on her horns.

Wanted—A young man to take care of horses of a religious disposition.

We would just like to know what Dorothy Platka thought when, after talking to Bob Hire outside the botany room, Miss Thompson said "Well, did he let you alone long enough for you to get your botany?" Ouch, and a couple of aw-wahs!

Oh, these English 6 classes! Mrs. Winslow was telling the sixth hour class how realistically Laura Gray's shoulders shook when she was doing the crying scene, but she didn't know the real cause of the lady's laughter. Laura hurt her knee and handed out some swell words along with her "ouch"! And after Jack Moyer was supposed to be lying dead on the stage, he seemed to find difficulty in keeping his shoulders from shaking. And we repeat—these classes!

One thing we'd like to know is, who is the little red-haired sophomore that Walt Bonham blushes so easily over? But then we forget, it's spring.

If I Had My Way

There would be more pep sessions.

There would be no cliques.

School would begin at 8:30 and be dismissed at 1:30.

Assemblies would last longer.

110 would be straightened daily.

The cafeteria would have chicken oftener.

Noiseless typewriters would be used in the publications room.

Columns would be due whenever they were finished.

All the teachers would have pleasant dispositions.

There would be no exhibits.

The depression would be over.

Studying would be omitted from the daily routine.

Days would be longer and the nights shorter.

The telephone in 110 would be a pay station.

Studious, quiet, and sober is Seymour Pinkus. He is usually seen in his red and yellow car wearing his purple striped shirt—that is, he wears it, not the car. But we must add—men such as he make up this world.

Diploma Days

All the world loves the Sweet Girl Graduate as she stands on the threshold of life, confident and hopeful.

In later years, when responsibilities come, her mind will turn back to the carefree days of school life.

She will appreciate THEN her graduation photograph.
